LINDY'S BABY REPORTED HOME BY BOSTON MAYOR

Today

False Clues Dangerous. Sugar and Foreign Labor. Mr. Sloan's Explanation. Useful, Excited Molecules.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IT IS ANNOUNCED that all mail addressed to Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh will be opened by them or members of their family. This should reassure the abductors, interested in communicating with Col. Lindbergh.

The underworld characters chosen to act as go-betweens have not produced results as yet. If the kidnapers were amateur criminals, the professional underworld men probably will not be able to help. They may be of use if the kidnapers were professionals.

THE ONLY good news is that there appears to be a more cheerful air surrounding the Lindbergh household. No reassuring statement is issued, but it is felt that conditions are distinctly hopeful. You may find comfort in that.

PARANOIACS AND others should know that sending false clues and messages to the Lindbergh home is not safe. In Chicago two men have been sent to prison for 200 days, for "spreading false reports." They telephoned Hopewell that they had found the lost baby in a Sheridan road rooming house.

Mr. Al Capone, "king of them all," expresses no high opinion of "Salvy" Spitale's ability to recover the Lindbergh child. Says he:

"If you want that baby back, let me out of here, and I'll try to find the kid."

The name of Capone, at present in jail at Chicago, would certainly interest any professional kidnaper and worry him.

THROUGH THE window of the newspaper office in which this is written, you could see a steamer of the Ward line yesterday, just below the old Brooklyn Bridge, unloading 30,000 sacks—3,000,000 pounds—of refined sugar, brought from abroad.

This sugar is landed opposite to the American refineries of the Arbuckle, National and American sugar refining companies on the other side of the East River.

This means that American supplies were not bought, American labor was not hired. American machinery and capital were not used to refine that sugar which Americans will eat.

THIS COUNTRY supplies the world's great market for raw sugar and has been a refiner of sugar for two hundred years.

Countries that produce raw sugar should be content to find here a market for their product, and not seek to destroy the refining industry which is the United States' share of sugar production.

LAW-MAKERS should see to it that refining which pays over seventeen million dollars for labor and over four hundred millions for materials used in this country, is properly protected against cheaper, competing labor represented in sugar from foreign refineries.

ALFRED P. SLOAN, Jr., head of the big General Motors Corporation, tells Samuel Crowther that our economic difficulties are partly due to "failure of financial technique to keep pace with development of machine technique."

It is plain that engineering and scientific genius, splendidly represented in Mr. Sloan's General Motors laboratories and engineering staff, has gone ahead of our financial power to think and foresee.

THE DINOSAUR grew too big for its brain and died off. Even the dinosaur that developed a subsidiary brain half way down its spine gave way to the small carnivorous creature that gnawed its feet.

This nation seems to have outgrown its brains, and the carnivorous tribe of bootleggers, gangsters, short sellers of stocks and get-rich-quick schemers are active.

A RUSSIAN scientist, Dr. Frankel, developing a theory that other scientists take seriously, attributes light to "the excitation of molecules." The atoms get excited and light is produced somewhat as when a player excites the chords of a violin, sound is produced. Light is a phenomenon produced by excited molecules.

We should all be grateful for this molecular excitement. Without it we could not see each other, the sky, the Sistine Chapel, the Taj Mahal, Pike's Peak, or Dempsey and Tunney.

SOMEBODY SEEMS to have money. Last night, when Florenz Ziegfeld's new show, bearing the deep and mystifying title "Hot-Cha" opened, 18,000 people were not there who wanted to be there. They were unable to secure tickets in a theater "sold out."

And the tickets for the first night cost $15 each, plus $1.50 tax, or $16.50 each. All prices will be normal after the first night.

THE BRITISH are proud that they always "muddle through" somehow. The British pound sterling seems to share the muddling through capacity.

Off the gold basis, standing on its own feet, it sailed upward yesterday, 20 cents to the pound, and Canadian exchange went up with the British sovereign. British stock exchange prices have been rising, and Britain, gold or no gold, paid off $180,000,000 in New York the other day.

London thinks the pound is mounting too fast, doesn't like it. Wall street has been "gambling in sterling" because British stocks are booming, says

BANDITS ROB BUS OF CASH FOR BANK

Teachers Witness Holdup Near Cheswick; Stolen Mail Pouch, Letters Recovered

Two armed bandits held up the driver of a bus carrying half a dozen young women school teachers near Cheswick, this morning, and escaped with a sack of registered mail containing $1,500 consigned by the Federal Reserve Bank to the First National Bank of Russelton.

The mail pouch, with all of the first class mail except the package containing the money, was recovered an hour later on the Fox Chapel road, between Harmarville and Fox Chapel.

SEIZE MAIL POUCH

According to the report of Postmaster Frank Armstrong, of Cheswick, to the county detectives, the robbers boarded the bus at Acmetonia and rode to a point half a mile beyond Cheswick, where a car occupied by two accomplices was waiting.

With drawn guns the two bandits held up the driver, James Norris, of Culmerville, selected one registered mail pouch from half a dozen, leaped off and joined their pals in the parked car. Passengers in the bus, including the school teachers bound for Russelton, were not molested.

The bandits sped away in a car described as a blue Buick sedan, 1932 model, toward Pittsburgh.

TELLS OF HOLDUP

Among those on the bus were Margaret Cassells, Mildred Wells and Lillian Dye, who teach in Russelton No. 2 Public School, and Betty Roessing, who teaches in Curtissville. All live in Cheswick.

Describing her experience, Miss Wells said:

"One big man stood up in the back of the bus, although it wasn't crowded. He held a revolver and watched the passengers while his partner held up the driver. As the holdup was going on, I looked up at the big man. He said, 'Don't you look up.'

"I looked down."

MERCURY AT 5, SETS NEW MARK

Another low temperature record for the season was established today when the mercury dipped to 5, in a belated appearance of winter.

It was also the lowest record for this date since the weather bureau was established here and Forecaster W. S. Brotzman announced that the mark of 10 degrees established in 1877 for March 10, probably would be equaled or broken tomorrow morning. The previous low record for March 9 was established in 1890 when 13 degrees were recorded.

The storm is sweeping out of the northwest and the [illegible]al forecaster said he did not expect a break in the cold until Friday. Snow flurries are predicted for tonigh..

W. A. Irvin Will Head U.S. Steel

NEW YORK, March 9.—(INS.)—William A. Irvin, a vice president of United States Steel Corporation, today was named president to succeed James A. Farrell April 19, when Farrell retires.

Irvin has been vice president since September 1, 1931, until which date he had been operating vice president of the United States Steel subsidiary, American Sheet and Tin Plate Company in Pittsburgh. He has been an official of various steel subsidiaries for 35 years.

While James A. Farrell was doing laboring work in mills at Sharon many years ago, William A. Irvin was running telegraph messages at 10 cents a trip at Indiana, Pa.

Irwin's start up the ladder of success was through learning telegraphy. He became an operator, a ticket agent, a shipping clerk and then a freight agent.

He attended Indiana State Normal School, but has stated that his only university education was in the university of hardknocks.

He became connected with the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company when it took over the American Sheet Steel Company. This organization subsequently went into the United States Steel Corporation and opened the road to his present position.

INDICT BLEDSOE TWO OTHERS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 9.—The grand jury today indicted former County Detective R. C. Bledsoe and Cosmo Stangoni and Carmello Sturiale, of Masontown said to be racketeers, on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Constable John F. Donohoe three years ago.

Former County Detective Tony Bell, acquitted of the murder, who recently confessed the murder and named the three men, was the principal witness before the grand jury. He slipped into the grand jury room yesterday afternoon and in 20 minutes related his story. State police and plainclothes officers were on guard when Bell was taken to the grand jury room.

De Valera Elected Free State President

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 9—(AP.)—Eamon De Valera was elected President of the Irish Free State by a vote of 81 to 68 when the new Dail Eireann convened today.

Immediately after Mr. De Valera had been elected, the House adjourned until 6 p. m., while he went to receive formal appointment at the hands of Gov. Gen. McNeill.

Chicago Candidate Freed by Kidnapers

CHICAGO, March 9.—(INS.)—Thomas J. Ryan, kidnaped and forced to withdraw as a candidate for Democratic ward committeeman, was returned to his home here early today.

Ryan told police today that he was taken to Cicero and held prisoner until he agreed to sign his withdrawal. He was not harmed, he said.

Louis Little Jailed in Row With Police Sergeant

Attorney Louis Little was lodged in a cell at East End Police Station charged with disorderly conduct today after an altercation with Acting Sergt. Daniel Bradley over alleged invasion of Little's rights in behalf of a client.

While in custody he was served with warrants from Traffic Court charging him with ignoring parking tags at various times since 1929. He paid $441 in traffic fines, put up $30 forfeit on the disorderly charge and was released for a hearing tomorrow.

Little, according to police, tried to get into the cellroom to consult his client, Max Leibowitz, of Brooklyn, arrested last night charged with passing a counterfeit $10 bill, when he is alleged to have twice brushed Sergt. Bradley, causing him to drop papers he held. His arrest followed.

Leibowitz was turned over to federal authorities by Magistrate Charles Papale.

Little declared he had been deprived of his constitutional right to see his client, that the hearing of the latter had been held while he was locked up and that his client later informed him he had been subjected to the third degree.

'Bathtub Gin,' Snoring of Mate Later Slain, Enter Into Defense for Widow

Bathtub gin, quarrels over orange juice and the story of a husband who snored so loudly he occupied a room apart from that of his wife, were told before the jury trying Mrs. Laverna M. Culbertson for the killing of her husband, as a cross-section of the couple's married life.

Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, opening the defense, laid bare the

Lamont's Son Sails To Aid Soviet Plan

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP.)—Robert P. Lamont, Jr., son of the Secretary of Commerce, sailed early today to confer with officials of Soviet Russia regarding an appointment to teach the Soviet how to bring its cattle production to a parity with the United States.

He will spend six weeks in Moscow and then decide whether to accept the position. He said the task of increasing Russia's cattle production to the point sought by the Soviet—100 pounds of beef per year per capita—would require 20 years to fulfill.

Man Trailed Here As Lindy Suspect

Police today were seeking to trail, as a possible clue in the kidnaped Lindbergh baby case, an automobile believed owned by a Delaware County man who obtained medicine for a sick baby at Bluestone's drug store, Penn and Negley avenues, last night. The baby was less than two years old, clerks told police. The man previously had obtained sandwiches in an East Liberty restaurant.

Butler Veteran Dead In Cabin From Cold

BUTLER, Pa., March 9.—George Wink, 38, World War veteran, was found frozen to death in a cabin at Vogeley mines, near here, last night. He served in Company F, 117th Ammunition Train during the war.

Pittsburgher Seized On Embracery Charge

BUTLER, March 9.—R. J. Cunningham, described as a Pittsburgh contractor, was arrested here today on an embracery charge in a surprise move by authorities investigating the alleged attempts to "fix" the jury panel for the Kline-Succop trial.

Cunningham was lodged in jail when he appeared to furnish bail for Roy Eakin, of Bakerstown, one of the three men held in the attempted plot.

Also in the county jail today was Roy Luton, of Connoquenessing, a member of the panel from which will be chosen 12 to try Pittsburgh's Mayor, Charles H. Kline, and his deposed Supplies Director, Bertram L. Succop.

At his family's request, Luton, an oil well laborer, was placed in a padded cell when he made incoherent charges that somebody was trying to bribe him. He is

Sheriff Farley Free In Larceny Charge

NEW YORK, March 9.—(INS.)—Former Sheriff Thomas M. Farley was acquitted on a charge of grand larceny by a directed verdict today in General Sessions. Judge John J. Freschi instructed the jurors to find Farley not guilty.

Farley was tried on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree because he appropriated interest from a fund in his custody.

LINK 'RACKET' IN KIDNAPING

DETROIT, March 9.—(INS.)—Negotiations for the safe return of Baby Lindbergh are being made here through the child's grandmother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, International News Service learned today.

Integrity of some of the informants cannot be questioned. They know criminals and know of gang operations from New York to Chicago.

The negotiations may be the work of racketeers trying to "muscle in" on the kidnaping. But the message received here appeared so authentic that no time was lost separating it from hundreds of "crank" letters she has received in the last week.

For two days those working on the baby's trail here have expected Mrs. Lindbergh would hear from the kidnapers. There was no verification of this until late yesterday, when she hurriedly and suddenly communicated with her son.

Then Mrs. Lindbergh secluded herself in her home at exclusive Crosse Pointe Park, refusing to confirm or deny reports of the negotiations. She asked that no police guard be stationed near her home, where she lives only with C. H. Land, her brother.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—(AP.)—One of the numerous rumors drifting about this village today was that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was preparing to fly to Detroit on information that his kidnaped baby was to be delivered to his mother there.

CONFIRMATION REFUSED BY N. J. POLICE

BOSTON, March 9.—(AP.)—Mayor James M. Curley today said he was reliably informed that the Lindbergh baby had been returned to his parents last Sunday night and that the information had been withheld from the police.

The Mayor, answering queries arising as a result of persistent rumors, said that his informant was a New York broker, whom he declined to name.

The broker, he said, was informed by an insurance man, whose name he also withheld.

Curley said he was informed that the Lindbergh baby was returned to his home after his parents had made an agreement with the kidnapers not to notify the police for 72 hours.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., March 9.—(AP.)—A member of the Morrow household, who said she was authorized to speak for Mrs. Dwight Morrow, today denied a report that the kidnaped Lindbergh baby had been returned.

Mrs. Morrow's representative declined to reveal her name. She said that the Lindberghs would have no reason to withhold announcement of the baby's recovery.

By ROBERT J. CAVAGANARO

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—(AP.)—Police at the Lindbergh estate professed complete ignorance today when told of a report that the Lindbergh baby had been returned to its parents Sunday night under stipulation that the kidnapers be given 72 hours in which to make their escape.

As soon as it was reported from Boston that Mayor James M. Curley had what he considered reliable information concerning the baby's return, the following question was framed and sent to the police headquarters at the Lindbergh home:

"Mayor Curley, of Boston, has announced that he has received information from an authoritative source that baby has been returned on Sunday night and that the police had been cleared away from the Lindbergh home to give the kidnapers 72 hours in which to make their getaway. Has the baby been returned? Is Mayor Curley correct in any respect?"

Police conferred for more than an hour on this and other questions submitted at the same time and then replied to the question about the baby's alleged return:

"We know nothing of this."

Another question as to whether the baby was now in the Lindbergh or Morrow homes the police answered flatly "No."

MORROW CLUE FAILS

Earlier, a rumor that something would happen at the Morrow home caused a flurry of excitement in Englewood, but this afternoon nothing had materialized there.

Police headquarters at the Lindbergh estate continued to maintain strictest secrecy on possible movements of Col. Lindbergh or his representatives and gave negative answers to questions about their own activities.

Lindy Takes Only 10 Minutes to Eat

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—(AP.)—Col. Lindbergh took only 10 minutes for lunch yesterday. In the company of state troopers he swallowed three sandwiches and two cups of coffee. Then he walked restlessly out into the cold.

Anne Courageous In Crisis Over Baby

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—(AP.)—Again Mrs. Anne Lindbergh is reported "bearing up well" under the terrific strain that would break a less courageous woman. She had few callers yesterday, and her mother stayed at her side.

ROOSEVELT WINS OVER SMITH IN NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY

MARGIN LARGE IN FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH

N. Y. Governor Gets Eight Convention Votes; Rival Stronger Than Expected

International News Service.

CONCORD, N. H., March 9.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today emerged victorious in his first test of strength with Alfred E. Smith for the Democratic nomination for President.

The Roosevelt forces won a clean-cut battle in New Hampshire over a slate of Smith-pledged delegates. Eight delegates-at-large pledged to Roosevelt with a half vote each and four Roosevelt delegates in the congressional districts with full votes were elected. New Hampshire has eight votes in the national convention at Chicago in June.

A total of 22,000 votes were cast.

Secretary Robert H. Jackson of the Democratic National Committee explained the vote as "a spontaneous decision of Democrats in New Hampshire." He declared Smith delegates got their vote because of Smith's personal popularity and the energy of the Smith campaign.

The margin between the two rivals was much closer than was expected and the result was in the balance until early morning.

Early returns from snow-isolated mountain towns revealed the definite trend of the rural districts in the Roosevelt direction. It was town meeting day in the 224 towns of New Hampshire and in three of the 11 cities special municipal elections were held. These local scraps lured the voters to the polls and aided the vote for Smith and Roosevelt.

Republicans went to the polls as well, but the Republican primary was cut and dried with a balance slate pledged to President Hoover. It was headed by Senator Moses, Gov. Winant and other state G. O. P. chiefs.

Wheeler to Stump For Roosevelt Boom

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, was to leave today for North Dakota to stump the state in behalf of the presidential candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was announced last night by James S. Farley, Roosevelt leader, who was in Washington conferring with friends of the New York Governor on campaign plans.

Roosevelt Elated At Election Returns

ALBANY, N. Y., March 9.—(AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was obviously elated over election reports from New Hampshire last night, but he had "nothing to say."

Ex-Official, W. Va. Fugitive, Arrested

PORTLAND, Ore., March 9.—(AP)—Portland detectives announced the arrest of E. B. Kind, 38, former police judge and city treasurer of Princeton, W. Va., held here on a warrant from that state charging him with embezzlement and arson.

Police said the man is accused of misapplication of approximately $11,000 over a period of six years. He waived extradition.

Today

IN THE OLD days, a man was a man "for a' that" and money made little difference.

Alexander the Great could march with 30,000 men against the armies of Persia, and after a few hours say:

"Persia is mine and I want all of it."

But Japan finds conditions changed. Armies that once "traveled on their stomachs" now travel on the national pocketbook. Merely enough for soldiers to eat is not enough.

Japan invades China. Then China boycotts Japan. Now five important Japanese banks are in trouble. That may explain dispatches saying Japan is anxious to withdraw from that "Shanghai gesture."

IN WALL STREET yesterday stocks were described as "approaching 1932 tops."

couple's marital line as he sought to show that the killing of Culbertson was accidental when he and his wife struggled for the gun, and that Mrs. Culbertson, grief-stricken, later attempted to end her own life but was balked by her 11-year-old son, Albert, Jr.

Hunting companions of Culbertson went on the stand and testified that the gun with which he was killed had a "very sensitive" trigger and could be easily discharged.

And Eaton, intimating he would endeavor to show that Culbertson was intoxicated when the shooting occurred, told the jury:

"He was a man who indulged in drink to such an extent that he made his own gin."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Mrs. Culbertson, Eaton said, hysterical after her husband was killed as they struggled for possession of the shotgun which she was trying to hide so he could not go on a hunting trip the next day, went to the basement of the home after the shooting and attempted to kill herself.

There, he continued, Albert, her older son, attempted to grab the gun and Mrs. Culbertson, fearful of a second tragedy, allowed him to take it, returned to the living room and had police summoned.

Opening his address, Eaton said:

"We will prove to you that this killing was an accident—a terrible accident. There was never any trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson; they were an unusually devoted couple.

"Just so she might be with him, she learned his sports, hunting, fishing, golfing and camping; she molded her life after his.

"The only trouble they ever had was that he often overindulged in liquor."

'BATHTUB' GIN

He told how they often slept in separate rooms because the husband snored, of the wife's repeated minor arguments because he made gin in the bathtub, how the husband on the day of his death cooked a breakfast of kippered herring and pork chops for his wife and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker, of Mt. Vernon, O., whom they had accompanied to the Pitt-Army game at the Stadium the day before, and with whom they had shared cocktails and highballs on both days, and of how Culbertson, on a trip from Ohio sometime before, accompanied by his wife and children, twice had been forced to stop his car and sleep off the effects of liquor.

At this point Prosecutor Earl T. Adair interrupted with an objection to the last statement, saying it was irrelevant and false.

Eaton asked:

"Do you mean to call me a liar?"

The prosecutor answered:

"No. You are telling the truth. Your witnesses have lied to you."

TELLS OF QUARREL

Eaton then told of Culbertson arising early on Sunday morning and starting to drink. He told how Culbertson became involved in an argument with his wife, claiming she did not give him enough orange juice, and how he pushed and bruised Mrs. Walker when she attempted to pacify him.

During an argument over the proposed hunting trip, Eaton said, Culbertson pushed his wife and she fell, bruising her chin.

Soon afterward, the attorney continued, while Walker and Culbertson were drinking in the kitchen, they sight a pheasant in the back yard, got a shotgun and attempted to shoot through a glass window pane at it.

Then, Eaton said, while her husband and Walker were making gin in the bathroom, Mrs. Culbertson went to her husband's car and, because she did not believe his condition such that he should go on the trip, hid his suitcase and started to hide his gun.

STRUGGLE RELATED

Taking the gun to her room, he went on, Mrs. Culbertson found her husband there and a struggle ensued for the gun, during which it was accidently discharged, inflicting the fatal wound.

Then, he said, the woman went to the basement and would have ended her life with the same gun if it had not been for her son's timely intervention.

She denied that there was any unfriendliness between her daughter and Culbertson.

Mrs. Mild was followed by Cecil Knerr, of Mt. Vernon; Dwight Ewalt, of Maybrick avenue, Mt. Lebanon, and J. P. Coyne, of Uniontown, all of whom said they had been on hunting trips and described the gun with which he was killed as having a very sensitive trigger.

TESTIMONY CONTRADICTED

This testimony was in contradiction to that offered yesterday by James L. Davidson, county ballistic expert, who said a six-pound pregure was required to fire the weapon. During Ewalt's testimony Judge Gardner took the gun and tested the trigger himself.

Walker was the next witness. He said he had known Culbertson for 30 years, Mrs. Culbertson for 15 and had been their neighbor in Mt. Vernon before they moved to Mt. Lebanon.

He testified that on the morning of the killing, the Culbertsons apparently were friendly and in good humor.

A spirited clash in legal procedure marked the opening of today's session of the trial.

Attorney Eaton, Joseph N. Mackrell and I. Elmer Ecker, defense counsel, and Prosecutor Adair were closeted with Judge Samuel H. Gardner for almost an hour when court opened.

Then they went to the courtroom and Judge Gardner dismissed the jury temporarily while Eaton argued a motion for a demurrer to the evidence.

Indirectly, this was a request for a directed verdict, which, normally, could not be presented until the defense case had been presented.

PROOF DENIED

Eaton's contention was that no proof of murder had been established by the prosecution, which closed its case unexpectedly yesterday without calling many of its scheduled witnesses.

Prosecutor Adair, however, did the unexpected again by joining with the request for the demurrer.

This would, if the motion were granted, make an appeal from the judge's decision impossible.

Eaton then sought to withdraw his motion, an action which brought vigorous objections from Adair.

Ruth McCormick Marrying Ex-Congressman Simms

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., March 9.—(AP)—In a noticeably happy mood, Ruth Hanna McCormick announced to newspapermen last night she would marry former Congressman Albert G. Simms, of New Mexico, at her home here at noon today.

The names of Mrs. McCormick and Simms had been linked since their friendship began when both were in the House of Representatives at Washington, but both had repeatedly denied that they would be married. Last March 27 Mrs. McCormick had labeled a report of their engagement as "screamingly funny."

Simms sought and obtained the aid of District Court here to obtain a marriage license. Under Colorado law a couple must wait five days between the application and receipt of a license, but Judge John C. Young granted Simms request, issued a court order and the county clerk of El Paso County promptly issued a license.

Mrs. McCormick said that while they plan to make their home in Albuquerque, she will spend much time in Colorado Springs where she has two children in school. Her son, Medill, attends the Fountain Valley School for Boys and her daughter, Ruth, the San Luis School for Girls.

SALES TAX PLAN RECOMMENDED IN HOUSE

Only Way to Raise Needed Revenue for Treasury, Committee Report Says

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(AP.)—The House was told today by its Ways and Means Committee that there was no other source of revenue that would yield the amount required for the Treasury as the 2.25 per cent manufacturers' sales tax is expected to do.

In the formal report on the new $1,096,000,000 revenue bill which the House will begin to consider tomorrow, the committee said:

"There is no other source of revenue which will yield the amount imperatively required with as little protest, as little annoyance and as little disturbance to business as a manufacturers' excise tax."

The tax proposed by the committee is expected to yield $595,000,000 of the $1,096,000,000 estimated return of the bill and forms the legislation's foundation.

5,000-WORD REPORT

The report of 5,000 words explained every provision of the new bill and included the minority views of a group of three committee members, who advocated a $5 a barrel tax on beer of 2.75 alcoholic content by weight.

The committee said that in these times of doubt and uncertainty, even more than in normal times the unimpaired credit of the federal government is of paramount importance, and added:

"Our national credit structure is bound up with and depends upon, not only the belief but the certainty that the federal government will meet its obligations when due and will take in advance such steps as will enable it to do so."

SEE DEFICIT CUT

The report, drawn by Acting Chairman Crisp, explained that while the anticipated deficit in 1932 was $1,241,000,000, the committee expected President Hoover's budget estimates to be reduced $125,000,000 by Congress and $25,000,000 through new legislation for the Postoffice Department. With the $1,096,000,000 bill, these would leave an expected surplus of $5,000,000.

It showed the deficit of $903,000,000 in the last fiscal year, the expected deficit of $2,123,000,000 this year and $1,241,000,000 in the coming period. These are being covered by long and short-term securities, including 20-year bonds.

Attorney To Speak At Lutheran Church

Attorney T. J. Mahoney, of Erie, will speak at the mid-week service of the Swedish Lutheran Church, Friendship avenue and Evaline street, tonight. His topic will be "The Trial of Jesus From the Standpoint of a Lawyer."

The Rev. John E. Nelson, pastor, will ask the invocation and pronounce the benediction. David M. Geschwindt will introduce the speaker and the Lutheran Chorus will sing.

BANKS ACCUSED OF HOARDING

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(AP)—A charge of hoarding placed against the country's banks by the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, Inc., today brought from President Hoover a request that the organization name specific instances of such activity.

More than a score of members of the institute, assembled in convention here, placed before the Chief Executive a statement charging that restrictive credit policies by bankers had hampered the activities of the scrap iron industry.

Benjamin Schwartz, director general of the institute, said the President had asked him to prepare a list of specific instances where the accounts of their industry had been refused by bankers. Schwartz said he would submit a sizeable list of names and places before nightfall.

Fire Sweeps Home, Owner Arrested

Albert Gould, 30, insurance salesman, of 2102 Lucina avenue, Overbrook, was held over for investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today. He was arrested by the bomb and arson squad yesterday following a fire which swept his home, causing $3,000 damage, and which detectives today testified showed indications of incendiarism.

Serum to Fight Meningitis Reported

LENINGRAD, March 9.—(INS.)—Development of a new anti-meningitis serum was claimed by the Leningrad Institute of Experimental Medicine today. Actual experiments in use of the new serum have been carried on over a period of two months.

Word was received last night that Judge Thomas D. Finletter, of Philadelphia, assigned to the trial, would arrive here tomorrow, four days before the trial. He will be present when the grand jury proceeds with the jury tampering investigation.

Whether there will be a basis for a delay of the trial will be determined by Judge Finletter upon hearing the report of the grand jury Friday, it is believed.

Sixteen members of the Kline panel have been called before the grand jury. Two other persons, one a Butler County clergyman, and the other a woman resident of the county, also have been subpenaed. Seven of these, District Attorney Negley said, had been ordered to report today.

SEARCH PRESSED

Meanwhile search for another man and a woman, both Pittsburghers, said to be implicated in the alleged plot to "fix" the Kline jury went on. State police, Butler and Allegheny County authorities and private detectives were engaged in the search which spread to all parts of Western Pennsylvania.

Three men, one a Pittsburgh city employe, already are under arrest. They are Howard Gross, stationary engineer employed at No. 6 Police Station, Pittsburgh; William H. Cook, of Hilliard, Butler County, and Roy Eakin, Bakerstown. Cook, it is said, implicated the Pittsburgh woman and her brother.

SUSPECT HELD IN JAIL

Eakin, arrested Monday on a bench warrant issued by Judge Thomas W. Watson when Joseph Robinson, a member of the Kline panel, voluntarily came into court and under oath testified that Eakin had offered him money, was turned over to District Attorney Negley yesterday. Negley made an information charging embracery against Eakin and he was committed to the county jail in default of bail. Cook is at liberty under $1,500 bond.

Allegheny County Detective Michael Ford and Special Investigator Peter Connors were still at work here today, searching for clues as to the origin of the alleged plot. Evidence that the whole affair was directed by a "master mind" in Pittsburgh is said to have been uncovered.

REED'S STAND BRINGS LEAGUE COURT ROW

Resolution for Modifying Protocol Leads to Senate Dispute; Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(AP.)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee got into a sharp dispute today over the effect of the Reed resolution of modification to the League Court protocol and a vote on American adherence went over for another week.

Friends of the court divided on whether the Reed resolution reaffirming America's disputed stand against advisory opinions by the court affecting this country required the formal approval of the other nations.

OLD STAND RECALLED

It was this same position taken by the Senate six years ago in adopting a reservation which prevented United States adherence to the court. The other powers refused to accept the reservation.

There is no reason to believe that the world powers have changed their position and, if the resolution of Senator David A. Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, is kept in the resolution of ratification, it is the opinion of some Senate leaders that the whole dispute is revived.

Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, offered the resolution of ratification at today's meeting of the committee, but the argument prevented a vote.

DISPUTE SEEN

The new development is causing considerable concern in the ranks of the League Court adherents. It promises a Senate dispute and casts considerable doubt over the outcome.

This disputed language reads that the United States adhere to the court "with the clear understanding of the United States that the Permanent Court of International Justice shall not, without the consent of the United States entertain any request for an advisory opinion touching any dispute or question in which the United States has or claims an interest."

Senators Walsh and Reed insisted this language did not amount to a reservation requiring formal approval by the other powers.

'BOY EMPEROR' INAUGURATED

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, March 9.—(AP.)—Henry Pu-Yi, young descendant of the former Manchu emperors, was formally inaugurated Chincheng—"Dictator"—of Manchoukuo, "Land of Manchuria," this afternoon.

The ceremony took place in the main hall of the new presidential palace, formerly Changchun's city hall, and lasted only 25 minutes. The attendance was limited to 3? Chinese, including several Manchus and Mongols, and 15 Japanese.

SHANGHAI, March 9.—(INS.)—Sharp fighting was under way in the town of Lotuchiao, near Tai sang, today, according to a Chinese communique, which stated the Japanese began the hostilities with a severe cavalry attack upon the Chinese defense positions.

Gen. Shirakawa, Japanese commander, issued a formal warning almost doubling the area about Shanghai which he demanded be evacuated of Chinese troops, and declared he would attack in case the Chinese encroached upon it.

South Park Open To Ice Skaters

Paul B. Riis, director of county parks, announced there would be ice skating again tonight on the swimming pool site in South Park. More than 1,000 made use of the skating and toboggan slide last night.

Holmes, on 91st Birthday, Speaks Farewell to Life

To a distinguished company gathered to honor the great jurist at dinner last night he sent formal regrets that he could not attend, but he supplemented these in a separate message:

"Your kind invitation for March 8 has been answered, I believe, in due form. But I cannot say farewell to life and you in formal words.

"Life seems to me like a Japanese picture which our imagination does not allow to end with the margin. We aim at the infinite and when our arrow falls to earth it is in flames.

"At times the ambitious ends of life have made it seem to me lonely, but it has not been. You have given me the companionship of dear friends who have helped to keep alive the fire in my heart. If I could think that I had sent a spark to those who come after I should be ready to say goodby."

But the venerable writer of countless opinions which have lent brilliance to the Supreme bench he occupied for almost 30 years, however near he may believe his mortal end to be, showed vigor of mind to the few friends who visited him on the anniversary. Cheerfully, he has expected that the end would steal upon him for some time, and he has whimsically called himself a "ghost" repeatedly.

REPORTED RETURN OF LINDBERGH BABY NOT CONFIRMED

BOSTON MAYOR HEARS CHILD IS HOME

News Kept Secret to Allow Kidnapers to Escape, Curley Version Declares

fies refusing to say if he was submitted valuntarily to inquisition.

Two men, a woman and a baby, the latter clothed in a white zipper suit, were reported by a toll collector on a bridge that links Perth Amboy, N. J., to Tottenville, Staten Island, N. Y., to have crossed in a green coupe on the night of the kidnaping. This caused a police check at Tottenville. There was no explanation for the delay in the report.

State police continued to deny any knowledge of the reported appointment of Spitale and Bitz, purported underworld characters, as go-betweens for the return of the child and payment of ransom.

Mrs. Lindbergh, mother of the missing baby, was described again as "bearing up well."

'PROGRESS' REPORTED

Prior to Mayor Curley's announcement, a new word of hope—progress—had entered into the search for the missing eaglet.

It came from the lips of the spokesman for the New Jersey state police at Trenton. They are the agency designated at the outset by Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh as the official bureau of information concerning news of their stolen son.

The police would not say that any word had been received from the persons who took the child from his second-floor nursery crib the night of March 1.

They would not say that ransom arrangements had been made.

They declined to discuss the activities of private investigators or even those of certain branches of the state police itself.

REPLIES VAGUE

Nor would they comment on reports that spread with the speed of an airplane last night that the long-awaited "break" in the case was only a matter of a few hours away.

The question was asked:

"What are the latest developments in the police investigation?"

The answer, coming on the authority of Maj. Charles Schoeffel, of the state police, in charge at the Lindbergh estate in the Sourland Hills, was:

"Progress."

It was terse and without amplification; but it was the first definite, authoritative word of encouragement that has been spoken among the hundreds of thousands of words, spoken and written, that have been carried to an anxious America since "the most famous baby in the world" was abducted.

REFUSE EXPLANATIONS

Has some telephoned or written communication to the flier himself been of such a nature as to lead police to hope that the baby soon may be restored to his parents?

The police were not to be drawn into explanations. Their duosyllabic answer was:

"Progress."

Word spread among the hundreds of correspondents at Hopewell and Trenton that an announcement of great importance might be expected soon. At the home of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, at Englewood, N. J., last night, a policeman said, knowingly:

"There'll be no news until 10 o'clock this morning. Then you may get a surprise. A heavy police guard is to be placed around all streets leading to the Morrow home at that hour. Something you'll want to know about may happen then."

But at 10 o'clock there were no developments. At that hour, police at the Lindbergh home maintained strict secrecy.

At 8 o'clock, a new list of questions had been submitted by reporters, and at 9 o'clock, the answers to some of them came back.

One of them was:

"Has Col. Lindbergh, Col. Henry Breckinridge, his attorney, or any other agent of Col. Lindbergh's been in communication with the kidnapers during the past 12 hours?"

And the notation opposite the first question was:

PROGRESS MYSTERY

Though police would say nothing about the activities of Col. Lindbergh or his civilian representatives, they were more communicative about the results of their own investigation, which results were purely negative.

In the questions this morning they were asked:

"Are there any new developments since the last conference?"

Maj. Schoeffel replied:

"No change."

What the earlier progress had been still remained a mystery.

In the face of whispering that something of great moment might take place during the night, the Lindbergh household retired shortly after midnight. No lights showed in the house on the hill the rest of the night.

There were some indications that Gov. Moore was putting into effect his suggestion that the way for the return of the baby be made easy. The force of troopers stationed at the Lindbergh estate was cut from 25 to 10. Arrangements were made by which at a moments notice the remaining troopers can be sent away.

LINKS CAPONE FREEDOM

More sensational reports—such a case cannot escape sensationalism with the demand for facts so insistence and the authorized sources so meager—were heard today, mentioning A Capone and seeking to show a possible connection with the affair.

One such report, denied by police, was that a theory had been propounded that the return of the Lindbergh baby was contingent upon a dicker by which Capone would be freed from the prison sentence that hangs over him for income tax law evasion.

The story was as foundationless as hundreds of others which have made every conceivable suggestion concerning the kidnaping.

Capone's only statement from his jail cell in Chicago has been the offer of a $10,000 reward for the child's return to his parents.

There were denials by the police of any friction with the Lindberghs because of the manner in which the search has been carried on. It was emphasized that first word of the abduction was telephoned by Col. Lindbergh himself to the state police, and that he turned the investigation over to them at once.

Lindbergh Baby Within 125 Miles of Home or Taken To Sea, Experts Say

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP.)—The Lindbergh baby is within 125 miles of Hopewell or was smuggled away by sea—that is the feeling that is growing among those who have analyzed the crime.

The child was stolen from his crib between 8:30 and 9:15 p. m., as near as experts on the job can deduce. By midnight or shortly thereafter the tightest lid that law enforcement agencies in the East can devise was clamped on a territory within several hundred miles of Hopewell.

It is barely possible—but in the eyes of experts not at all probable—that the kidnapers continued to travel in an automobile with the infant after police on highways, bridges, in tunnels and everywhere else were scanning cars inside and out.

AUTO BELIEVED USED

The best guess is that if the child was spirited away by automobile, its captors halted and went into hiding before the alarm that worried the world went chattering over the wires. If they were able to travel 35 miles an hour (a high average over the rocky Sourland roads) they could have reached, before the crime was generally known, such places as New York City, lower New York state or Connecticut, Eastern Pennsylvania, parts of Delaware or Maryland—or the sea coast.

The possibility that they made their way to the Jersey Shore, to Delaware Bay or to Chesapeake Bay and fled in some craft, big or little, to any of a thousand and one secluded spots far away from the hub of the hue and cry is not being neglected. Coast Guardsmen here, however, have said they had no orders to search vessels for the baby and his captors.

LINER THEORY

Even the possibility that the baby (perhaps in a suitcase) was taken aboard a trans-Atlantic liner has been considered—although this is thought unlikely. Three large liners sailed for Europe March 2.

Within that 125-mile circle drawn about Hopewell has occurred the most intense effort of the authorities to find the baby—indicating that they still cling to the theory that he was not carried any great distance from his home.

Of course, some officers point out, there is always the bare possibility that a plane figured in the kidnaping, but this is thought virtually impossible, since it is harder to arrive anywhere in a plane without attracting attention than it would be by other forms of transportation.

SEARCH TO LINK 2 KIDNAPINGS

WEST CHESTER, Pa., March 9.—(AP.)—Authorities are investigating the possibility of a connection between the kidnapings of the Lindbergh baby and of Mrs. Nell Q. Donnelly, wealthy Kansas City woman.

Kansas City and Mercer County, New Jersey, officers sought to learn whether a former Downington, Pa., man known as Martin Depew, who was sought in the Donnelly abduction, had any connection with the Lindbergh case.

Depew formerly was a steam-shovel operator. The opinion was advanced that he might have been among the workmen employed to level off a field near the Lindbergh home. Two detectives and an assistant district attorney from Kansas City, who have been looking for Depew here, conferred with New Jersey officers on this angle.

Boardman on Flight Linked to Lindy Case

KANE, Pa., March 9.—(INS.)—Russell Boardman, trans-Atlantic flier, was believed to be back in New York today after being forced down on an airplane flight he said was "connected indirectly" with the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

Boardman, flying alone in a Curtiss-Wright five-passenger cabin plane, was forced down at Sheffield last evening and motored to Bradford before returning to his stalled plane.

Police in Trees Ambush Hi-Jackers

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—(AP.)—Police hidden in trees today ambushed a group of alleged hi-jackers stealing a valuable load of silks and captured four of them after a pistol battle.

Atlanta Mayor Must Face Recall Vote

ATLANTA, Ga., March 9.—(INS.)—Because he sought to reduce salaries of city employes to balance the budget and also, to a lesser extent, because of his opposition to prohibition, Mayor James L. Key must face a recall election March 15.

2 NEAR ARREST IN BOMB PLOT

CHICAGO, March 9.—(INS.)—With one self-styled anarchist already in custody, two new arrests were expected today in the suddenly revived investigation of the anti-Fascist bomb epidemic which cost three lives more than two months ago.

In the local offices of the United States Immigration Department federal officials continued to question the man in custody, Columbo Boris, alias Joannis Bori. But, aside from proclaiming himself an anarchist and an opponent of Fascism, Boris refused to talk. He was held without charges under bond of $100,000.

The investigation which culminated in the arrest of Boris pointed to two other suspects who are being hunted. It was announced by Murray W. Garsson, special Assistant to Secretary of Labor Doak.

Garsson directed the raid on Boris' bungalow. A virtual arsenal was discovered. Among the items seized were quantities of explosives, chemicals, two shotguns, two revolvers and materials which could be used in the construction of bombs.

The authorities questioned Boris concerning his movements during the latter part of last December when bombs were sent through the mails to prominent Italian-Americans in several large cities of the East and Middle West. Two of these bombs caused the deaths of two postal clerks and an explosives expert in Easton, Pa.

Niagara Falls Police Seek Lindy Suspect

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 9.—(AP.)—Acting on the request of the head of the New Jersey state police force, police here today are searching for J. Norman Beck, formerly of Rochester, who is wanted for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby.

In May, 1929, Beck was arrested here at the request of Washington, D. C., authorities and returned to that city to face a charge of passing worthless checks. He was known as a dog track promoter.

LAWYER'S WIFE AIDS ANNE

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—(Universal.)—A woman who has devoted her life to the care of children comforts a mother whose child is gone.

Aida de Acosta Breckenridge, wife of Col. Henry Breckenridge, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's close associate in the present crisis, has been the constant companion of the mother of little Lindy since the tragic night a week ago when he disappeared from his crib.

Acknowledged one of the most beautiful women of New York's "four hundred," Mrs. Breckenridge put in long hours at the Lindbergh home today, opening mail, sorting out the messages that seemed authentic from the thousands of "crank" letters and post cards that have flooded the Hopewell postoffice since last Tuesday night.

As a director of the American Child Health Association, founder of national child health day, a close co-worker with President Hoover in his child health movements, her one interest has been welfare of children, although she has none of her own.

POLICE STILL KEEP LINDY NEWS SECRET

Guarded Answers Made by Troopers' Chief Shed No Light on Baby Mystery

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service.

TRENTON, N. J., March 9.—Efforts of the press to extract information from the authorities on developments in the Lindbergh kidnaping case were met by guarded answers again today.

At the morning press conference 10 questions were submitted to Maj. Charles Schoeffel, of the New Jersey state police, and, while he answered eight of them, no new light was shed upon the mystery.

Here are the questions and the answers:

Q—Has Col. Lindbergh, Col. Breckinridge or any agent of Col. Lindbergh been in touch with the kidnapers within the last 12 hours?

SAILOR STILL HELD

Q—Is Johnson still being held in Newark police station?

A—We have not been informed of his release as yet.

Q—Is he remaining there voluntarily or are police contemplating filing charges against him.

A—Suggest Newark police for reply.

Q—Are there any new developments since the last conference?

A—No change.

A—Know nothing of this.

Q—What was the foundation of the report that the baby was to be returned to the Morrow home in Englewood last night or early today?

A—Knew nothing of this prior to your question.

POLICE FORCE REDUCED

Q—When were the "deadlines" extended and the roads leading to the Lindbergh estate ordered clear? What was the purpose of this move?

A—An agreement with Col. Lindbergh.

Q—To what extent, if any, has the police personnel in and about the Lindbergh home been reduced?

A—About one-half original personnel.

A—No answer.

The questions and answers at an earlier conference were as follows:

Q—What is the status of Henry Johnson? Is he still being questioned at Newark police headquarters?

A—Still being held at Newark police headquarters.

Q—Please amplify police statement that progress is being made in the investigation. Does that statement pertain to the police investigation or to Col. Lindbergh's investigation or both? Is today the first time police feel progress has been made?

A—Police investigation.

SEARCH VACANT HOUSES

Q—Has Col. Schwarzkopf ordered a search of all vacant cottages along the Jersey shore? If so, does it mean that the state troopers will break into unoccupied cottages?

A—Members of this department and other police departments have been requested to search all vacant houses in their area.

Q—The day following the kidnaping, Maj. Schoeffel was quoted as saying that a box was found under the baby's window. Was that a cedar box or a cedar chest?

Buffoon Lahr Scores Before Brilliant Audience; Laud Lupe Velez, Buddy Rogers

By GILBERT W. GABRIEL
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Dedicated to the proposition that Bert Lahr is the zaniest of zanies and will draw roars from the multitudes when he goes a-bull-fighting in the rainbow garb of what he calls a "machador," or maybe a "mackinaw," Mr. Ziegfeld's new musical extravagance, "Hot-Cha," arrived at the Ziegfeld Theater last night.

It was hailed by one of the most gold-standard audiences of the season as a vivid travelogue, a seminary of the guaranteed Ziegfeld beauties, and, above all, a field day for Mr. Lahr.

ALL THAT GLITTERS

Here is the first production since his summer Follies by the Medici of the theatrical managers—and here, as must be expected, is a splurging convocation of all the glowing colors and billowing fabrics, lively design, popular music and mass humor which the impresario of Sixth avenue always commands.

The cast is super-abundant with big names. The movies contribute those good-looking juveniles, Lupe Velez and Buddy Rogers. Broadway comes in with such well-knowns from the speaking stage as Lynne Overman and Robert Gleckler.

SOCIETY ATTENDS

Not since the opening night at the Metropolitan Opera House last November has any temple of entertainment boasted of as representative a gathering as the one which crowded into every available inch of space at last night's opening.

Everywhere one looked in the audience members of the social, civic and artistic worlds were on view.

Mayor Walker and a party of friends occupied seats in the front rows; Mrs. William Randolph Hearst had a group of guests with her; the Dudley Field Malones also entertained, and others noted at the brillian premier were:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Block, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Kern, William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Mrs. Jay O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua S. Cosden, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Baruch, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Urban, Charles Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bayard Swope, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Lylyan Tashman, Edmund Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. McIntyre, George Gershwin, Jesse Lasky, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brisbane and Sarah Brisbane, Irene Hayes, Mrs. C. Boothe Brokaw, Donald Freeman and Billie Dove.

Ziegfeld to Make Talkie of 'Hot-Cha'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
(Motion Picture Editor, Universal Service.)

LOS ANGELES, March 9.—We'll all be seeing Buddy Rogers, Lupe Velez and Bert Lahr in the movies.

Florenz Ziegfeld has made arrangements to make a talkie of "Hot-Cha," his most successful show in some years. Why shouldn't he with those three hot movie favorites, Bert, Lupe and Buddy? The talkie version will be released under the title of "A Matador in Mexico."

While Samuel Goldwyn took most of the bows for "Whoopee" it was Florenz Ziegfeld who really deserved the credit. It was Ziegfeld who grouped the ensembles of pretty girls and made test and test after test to be sure that the colors were right. It was Ziegfeld who stood on the set all day and half of the night to be sure that the screen would lose none of the beauty of the stage.

Mr. Ziegfeld told me when I saw him last that he would not make another movie until he had a good one. From all I hear, "Hot-Cha" is that. Lupe is at her best and Buddy Rogers, they tell me, has "out-Rudied" Rudy Vallee. As for Bert Lahr—well, he is good for a laugh any time.

HUNT LINDY BOY NEAR ELKINS

ELKINS, W. Va., March 9.—(AP.)—Instructions to a barnstorming aviator to fly alone into the mountains south of Elkins for the Lindbergh baby today sent state police on a search of mountain cabins.

The aviator, George Haines, told police at Cumberland that a mud-spattered automobile drew up to the curb as he left his home late yesterday and a man handed him an envelope.

In the envelope was a message printed raggedly on a road map. The note said:

"Fly 32 miles south of Elkins, W. Va. Lindbergh baby in log cabin. Come alone. Out of food."

Lindy Misses Hoover Call While Sleeping

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9.—(AP.)—President Hoover called Col. Charles A. Lindbergh several days ago to express his regret over the kidnaping of the flier's son, it has been learned, and was told Col. Lindbergh was asleep.

The President urged that the sleeping man be not awakened, so Col. Lindbergh was not informed of the President's call until later in the day.

BANK OPENING PLAN PUSHED

The move to reopen the closed Homewood Peoples Bank advanced today with the announcement that 25 per cent of a proposed stock sale of 2,000 shares at $75 a share was subscribed at a meeting of Homewood business and professional men last night in Homewood Carnegie Library.

F. E. Shaughnessy presided at the meeting and stated that after all the stock had been subscribed the plan would be submitted to the Secretary of Banking who, under the enabling act of 1931, would be able to turn over to newly-elected officers and directors a certain percentage of the old deposits for immediate distribution.

Upon approval by the state banking head, Shaughnessy said, the money for the stock subscription would be paid into the Colonial Trust Company as trustee.

THREE INDICTED IN CLUB HOLDUP

To aid in the fight to extradite from Ohio four youths alleged to have held up the Metro Club, in Murray avenue, Squirrel Hill, February 14, the county grand jury has returned indictments of robbery against them. They are Donald M. Joyce, Roy Marino, Leo Lee, alias George Green, and Fred Bowser. A fifth indictment names John Doe.

At the extradition hearing in Columbus yesterday, conflicting testimony was given to S. P. Dunkle, executive secretary to Gov. White, of Ohio.

Three Youngstown residents said Bowser was in a restaurant in that city the night of the Metro Club holdup, in which guests were robbed of more than $1,000. Max Wagner, steward at the club, identified Bowser as one of the robbers.

Youthful Bandits Rob Chain Store

Two youthful robbers, who jokingly entered the P. H. Butler store, Kelly and Collier streets, today held up the manager, G. H. Toland at the point of a gun and escaped with $47 taken from cash bags and the register, he reported to police.

BOGUS MONEY RING SOUGHT

Search for a counterfeiting ring operating in Western Pennsylvania was instituted by police and federal authorities today following the arrest of Max Leibowitz, 23, of New York City, last night.

Leibowitz, after his arrest in a restaurant conducted by Joseph Conetto, at 6267 Frankstown avenue, where he was alleged to have tendered a bogus $10 note in payment for a lunch and a package of cigarets, told police, they said, he was one of several men passing the spurious notes on business establishments here. He was held by East End police for federal authorities.

Conetto, unable to change the bill given him by Leibowitz, sent his waiter to the Wolf Jewelry Store, at 6269 Frankstown avenue, with it. There a clerk detected that the note was not genuine and notified police. Police hurried to the restaurant and arrested Leibowitz. The prisoner then told police, they reported, that several others were preying on merchants.

Two Bandits Get $2 From Candy Store

Two Negro bandits held up John Lippert in his confectionery, at 1011 Sheffield street, and rifled the cash register of $2 last night. They escaped in an automobile.

Harry Torin, of 739 Chislett street, was robbed of $125 by two armed Negroes near his home last night, he reported to East End police. Torin, an insurance agent, told police he collected the money yesterday.

End Acid Stomach New Way

"Suffered for the last 20 years with stomach trouble. Everything I ate distressed me. Tried everything I saw on the market," says O. E. Ashe, Medford, Mass. "Am now using the second package of ACIDINE and it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have used."

End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Maker guarantees ACIDINE ends your stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

BODY OF SOUSA LIES IN STATE

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(AP.)—In the bandroom of the Marine Barracks where began the great musical career of John Philip Sousa, his body will lie in state from this afternoon until tomorrow, when "taps" is sounded over his grave in Congressional Cemetery.

Here as a youngster of 13 he began to play; here later he wielded the baton that raised the Marine Band to its eminent rank and made him the "March King" to the entire world.

The public will file by his bier, flag-draped and surrounded by solemn military guard, to pay a last homage to the great bandmaster who died Sunday at Reading, Pa., of a heart attack.

Funeral marches which he himself composed, including the one that mourned President Garfield, will be played by the Marine Band when it escorts Sousa to his grave, followed by a great military cortege.

Honorary pallbearers will include Arthur Pryor, John Lagatta, nationally-known illustrator; Gene Buck, president of the American Society of Composers; Edwin F. Goldman, president of the American Bandmasters' Association; Assistant Secretary Jahncke, of the Navy; Brig. Gen. George Richards, of the Marine Corps; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, and many others, officials and friends.

FOSTER AVOIDS RIOT PROBERS

DETROIT, March 9.—(INS.)—Agitators believed responsible for Monday's riot at the Ford Motor Company's plant in Dearborn, in which four were killed and 19 wounded, were sought by police today.

Among those sought for questioning are William Z. Foster, head of the Communist party in the United States, who addressed a crowd of 1,000 here Sunday, and Albert Goetz, said to be state organizer for the Communists.

More than 50 men and women have already been arrested. Others are under police guard at hospitals, where they are being treated for wounds received in the riot.

The four killed were members of the crowd of more than 3,000 that marched upon the Ford plant.

Mrs. Hoover Visits St. Augustine, Fla.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 9.—(AP.)—Continuing her southern cruise, Mrs. Herbert Hoover arrived here yesterday from Jacksonville aboard the motorship Sequoia.

Paris Wine Congress Spurred by Tardieu

PARIS, March 9.—(INS.)—The International Wine Congress was in full swing here following an appeal by Premier Andre Tardieu in which he asked wine drinkers and exporters throughout the world to "play politics to the limit" to defeat prohibition and high taxes on wine. Tardieu addressed delegates of 30 nations assembled for the convention. The United States is not represented.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES

with Castoria's gentle regulation

"The best way to cure colic," says a famous doctor, "is to prevent it." And the best way to prevent it is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste.

But there's one thing to remember here. A tiny baby's tender organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged.

This is just the place Castoria comes to a mother's aid. Castoria, you know, is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation which is absolutely harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Children never fight Castoria. They like its taste and the relaxed comfort its gentle regulation brings.

For many years it has helped mothers through trying ordeals with colicky babies, with children suffering from digestive upsets, colds and other little ailments. Keep it on hand for your children. You can always tell genuine Castoria by the name Chas. H. Fletcher.

● Dirty dishes—dirty dishes—dirty dishes! Why not make this unpleasant job as easy as you can?

Try the New Oxydol—the soap that makes creamier, quicker, richer suds—50% more suds. Sturdy, long-lasting suds that cut grease like lightning and rinse off so dishes are sparkling clean—so there's no scum left in the dishpan.

Oxydol is easy on hands too, because it makes the hardest water soft and mild—and all water hardens when you put in greasy dishes or dirty clothes. Ask your grocer today for a package of Oxydol—you'll bless the day you learned its name.

COUNCIL FAVORS SUBWAY WORK RENEWAL

Funds for Technical Staff Tentatively Approved on Transit Body's Urging

Council's "moratorium" of one year on the subway activities of the City Transit Bureau was broken tentatively today with Councilmanic approval of an $8,300 appropriation to rehire engineers and draftsmen, idle since January 1.

Final action will be taken at a meeting Monday, according to Council President John S. Herron.

The legislation, asked by L. W. Monteverde and others of the City Transit Commission, provides for rehiring of Winters S. Haydock as designing engineer in charge of subway work, a draftsman and clerks. Haydock's former salary was $10,000 annually. He will be put back to work at half that figure.

When Council announced its intention to hold up the subway plans for economy, the bureau personnel was slashed. Only one stenographer, who receives $1,800 per year, was retained.

Hearings were held at which members of the Transit Commission said subway activities would be retarded if the personnel was discharged. More than $300,000 from a people's bond issue of $6,000,000, voted in 1919, has been spent for subway research, the commission reported.

The bureau employes' salaries will not come from taxes, according to the commission, but from the already existing bond moneys.

It's the one cigarette
That I'm thankful to get
When I'm resting a bit from a fight;
Its tobacco is ripe
And the smooth, mellow type,
It's a comfort and pleasure to light.

And our nerves have been ragged,
And our spirits are sluggish and cold,
There's a package of pep
That gets into our step

14 MEN KILLED IN GAS PLANT EXPLOSION

Tank Under Repair Lets Go, Trapping Workers; N. J. Area Rocked by Explosion

CAMDEN, N. J., March 9.—(AP.)—Fourteen workmen were killed and four injured, two seriously, in an explosion of a purifying box at the Public Service Electric and Gas Company plant here today.

Officials of the company gave out the following statement:

"The cause of the explosion has not been definitely ascertained, but is believed to have been due to spontaneous combustion.

"The latest information that we have is that there were at least 18 laborers employed in the purifying box. Fourteen bodies have been recovered. Four employes were taken to the hospital. Later two were released. The other two men are in a serious condition."

ONE MAN ESCAPES

Residences for blocks were shaken by the explosion, the scene of which is a mile from the central city area.

The explosion was caused by a spark, either the result of a blow on the metal inner shell of the tank, or a lighted match that ignited the gas collected within.

A tremendous roar announced the accident while practically the entire force of workmen, many of them earning their first pay in weeks, were trapped below.

A fierce torchlike flame which followed was speedily extinguished by the firemen and then the search within the chambers was begun.

The workmen had entered the tank after the top was lifted off. The interior of the tank was strengthened by heavy girders.

MAN SEES FLAME

Rudolf Walker, 40, Negro, said he saw a slight flame at the bottom of the tank after he had been working there 20 minutes, indicating that the sawdust and sulphuric acid lining had caught fire. He said:

"I shouted to the other men 'This looks bad.' Then I ran to get a fire engine. I was near the top of the tank and I climbed out and was running to the corner to sound an alarm when I heard a big explosion. It made an awful noise.

"As I turned around I saw flames shooting from above the top of the tank.

"When I sounded the alarm I ran back to the tank and helped to get some of the other fellows out."

"It was all simple too . . . after I had the good sense to reason it out—now I am overjoyed because I not only have a clear skin, but my system is strengthened . . . and I again mingle with my friends and associates with confidence."

Medical authorities say that skin conditions commonly manifest themselves when the system is in a weakened and "run-down" condition . . . that the skin must have a ratio of body balance . . . must have resistance from within.

If you are troubled with pimples, boils or a similar skin disorder or require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—besides its general tonic properties, it regenerates hemoglobin and restores red-cells in the blood.

S.S.S. helpfulness is illustrated by this fact—our records show that nearly one-half of those who have taken it, for the first time, do so upon the recommendation of some friend who has been benefited. Can there be any stronger recommendation for its merit and usefulness than this?

Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. S.S.S. may be the means of bringing better health and happiness to you.

SWEET VOICE FINALS OPEN SATURDAY

35 to Compete at Studio List Will Be Cut to 5 For Test in Nite Club

The WCAE-Sun-Telegraph search for the "girl with the sweetest voice" is nearing the end. The 35 girls who won in the auditions at the Alvin Theater last week will assemble at Station WCAE at 4 o'clock next Saturday afternoon for another voice test before a board of judges. In this audition, staged in the same manner as last week's tests, five girls will be selected, eliminating 30 candidates.

The five girls who win next Saturday afternoon will be placed in the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air next Wednesday night for the final test before the microphone. Their friends and the general public can listen in and hear their voices, but the selection of the "girl with the sweetest voice" will be made by a special board of judges in the studio.

But few contests have created the interest that has been displayed in this quest for the "sweetest voice" will be made by 2,000 candidates appeared in the Alvin Theater auditions. The number would have been much larger were it not for the prevailing epidemic of colds, which brought real disappointment to many candidates.

The public will not be admitted to the studio for the final auditions, which will be in charge of J. L. Kaufman, manager of WCAE—The Voice of the Sun-Telegraph.

THE NEWEST MODE IN SPRING HATS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, March 9.—Brimful of charm are the new spring hats, each with a brim that is full of tricks and flattering lines. Although now and again one sees a hat devoid of any suggestion of a brim, the brimmed model seems to be everyone's favorite. Some hats have only a suggestion of a brim, but even the briefest outline manages to cast a flattering shadow over the wearer's face. Soft straw weaves are liked here, since so many of the hats have manipulated crowns with creases and tucks. To one side is still the decree for most models, for we have discovered that this pert line is essentially youthful and kind, as well as supremely smart. Some flower-trimmed hats have been noted, but these are not for practical, everyday usage. The overtrimmed hat, even if the trimming be flowers, has a tendency to look weighty and so add years to the appearance of the wearer, unless the model be of the floppy, garden-party or bridesmaid type. Plenty of colorful straw have been shown, much blue, much red and some green.

* * *

SHOWN TODAY are two models sketched at recent openings. First is an Agnes model showing her new sugar-loaf crown, a spring silhouette that is in great favor at this house. Agnes used it already for some of her winter resort caps. This particular model is done in fine red straw of a flexible texture. The brim widens in back and is turned up sharply with a cocarde at the side to hold it in position. Matching red grosgrain ribbon makes the cocarde and an edge of skunk fur beneath the pleated fan makes the model suitable for mid-season wear. The other hat is from Blanche et Simone. Very fine black Milan straw is used. The wide brim has a narrow rolled edge which gradually widens toward the back, where it turns up flat against the back of the crown. A flat plaque of straw in a semi-disc shape nestles against the hair in back beneath the brim. Black satin ribbon laid in fine pleats edges this plaque.

M'KEES ROCKS TAX CUT PLEA REFUSED

800 Petitioners Ignored; Council Keeps 18-Mill Rate in Stormy Session

Despite a petition signed by more than 800 property owners of McKees Rocks, urging a reduction of taxes from 18 to 15 mills, the Borough Council last night turned the issue down and passed its own budget and taxation ordinance after a rapid first, second and final reading, leaving the millage unchanged.

Councilman D. J. Buckley vigorously objected to the passing of the ordinance as illegal. In heated tilts with other members of Council Buckley demanded to know why he and Councilman A. D. Burgunder were not included in the drafting of the ordinance as Council as a whole was to be the finance committee. Buckley then presented a "minority Council" ordinance reducing borough taxes, but that met the same fate as the taxpayers' petition. Buckley, addressing President C. S. Dorr, said:

"Why not play the game fair. I am also a member of the finance committee."

He was ruled out of order.

W. R. Cunningham, secretary of the McKees Rock Citizens' Committee, presenting the taxpayers petition said:

"The taxpayers claim that the present tax is excessive during this business disorder, and want Council to relieve the burden."

Council ordered the membership payment of $10 to the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association, which recently organized to fight unfair public utility rates.

More than 100 persons attended the session.

Girl Scout Day For Kiwanis Club

Girl Scout day will be observed tomorrow by the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh at its weekly luncheon in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Demonstrations in crafts will feature exhibits staged by girls in the lobby prior to the meeting. Mrs. Harry C. MacDonald, director of Girl Scouts of Allegheny County, will speak on "Scouting and the Girl of Today."

BABY BOND SALE ENCOURAGING, DUNN SAYS

Big Demand for Short Term Securities Seen in Drive To Employ Idle Dollars

Demands at banks in Western Pennsylvania for United States "Baby Bonds" since they were placed on sale Monday have been "encouraging," Thomas A. Dunn, regional chairman of the State Citizens' Reconstruction Organization, said today.

He predicted there will be a big demand for these securities, paying 2 per cent, when banks are able to deliver them to purchasers March 15. At present the prospective buyer receives a receipt for payment of a bond from a bank and will receive the bond upon presentation of the receipt when the certificates are delivered to the banks.

Gimbels Department Store has announced that they would accept "Baby Bonds" plus the 2 per cent interest in lieu of cash for purchases of merchandise. There is likelihood of other retail establishments making the same offer.

Frank C. Harper, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and the chairman of the City of Pittsburgh for the "Baby Bond" drive, in an address over radio station WWSW last night, said:

"The Baby Bond, for the investor who might hesitate to put his money in some other security, has the advantage over other government bonds in that the purchaser will not have to wait for a term of years in order to secure the principal of the sum invested. These bonds will be redeemed by the government at their full face value in one year. Not only that, but if the purchaser does not wish to wait a year, but wants to cash in for the full amount sooner than that, the government will redeem the bonds at any time during the year on 60 days notice, paying the full two per cent interest."

William P. Witherow, vice president of the chamber, and prominent industrialist, will speak on the campaign today from 6:10 to 6:15 p. m. over KDKA.

Co-Ed Wins Award Of $15,000 For Tip of Nose

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 9. (AP.)—The tip of a college co-ed's nose is worth $15,000. That was the judgment affirmed by the Oklahoma Supreme Court against the Oklahoma Railway Company in favor of Miss Evelyn Mount, a student at Oklahoma City University at the time she lost the tip of her nose in a bus accident.

Women to Ban War, Mrs. Roosevelt Says

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP.)—Women's special field in politics lies in international relations, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said in an address here last night. The world must look to the women, she said, for the impetus to abolish war. Men, she said, "fight from their earliest days and believe from boyhood that things must be settled by physical strength."

WILKINSBURG TAX CUT NEAR

A three-mill Wilkinsburg school tax cut will be effected at the next borough school board meeting, it was announced last night at a meeting of the Wilkinsburg Taxpayers' Association. The organization has already obtained a two-mill cut in borough taxes.

The cut will necessitate a 10 per cent reduction of all teachers whose salaries are more than $1,300. The announcement of the school board's intention came in a report by Rex Newton, chairman of the committee assigned to call on the board.

The two tax slashes were obtained, it was reported, after the organization threatened to bankrupt the borough government and school board. The measures represent a savin of $200,000 annually to the taxpayers.

Dissatisfied over the county tax increase, the organization announced it would launch a movement for a county tax reduction.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

We Shouldn't Snarl at Those Who Want to Reform

Should we forgive the chap who has stumbled, and give him a helping hand?

Should we wipe the bad record off the slate and treat him like a regular guy—or should we scoff at his remorse, brand him as a criminal and cast him into outer darkness?

D. Leaste is all for the branding-and-casting method. He doesn't believe in forgiving and forgetting.

He thinks that bad people should be made to suffer consequences—and plenty of 'em—and he's all burnt up when he sees prodigals being taken back in the fold.

For he D. Leaste is a good boy. He has never yielded to temptation, and if anyone is going to have a fuss made over 'em it should be D. Leaste but instead the bad boy gets the spotlight.

"So what's the use of being good?" wails the hero.

AVOIDED TEMPTATIONS

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I admire some of your answers, but I certainly don't agree with the advice you give to people with a past. You say we should forgive them and give them another chance. You ask the husband of an erring wife if he has never sinned and you tell the woman to put her past behind her and make a new start.

"But if that is all the punishment bad people should have, what is the use of being good and resisting temptation?

"These people who yield to sin (when they know perfectly well they shouldn't) and then cry that they 'didn't know any better,' and ask for forgiveness simply make me sick, and I think it is simply disgusting to let them get by with it.

"Don't you realize that the worthwhile person has passed through just as many temptations, but had the strength and sense to pass on and avoid them? I speak so because I am a young man who has avoided such predicaments, and has managed perfectly to choose sensible and pleasant friends. Foolish things are just as tempting to me, too, but I have passed through with my eyes wide open, and so have my sensible friends.

UNSYMPATHETIC

"Did you ever hear the saying 'The deaf man is he who will not listen'? Well, the erring ones are those who refuse to see!

"After it's all over, they weep and cry that they 'didn't know.' They knew all right, but they kept fooling themselves, and that's just too bad! The Lord gave them common sense, but they didn't use it! Let them suffer the consequences! They haven't my sympathy.

"D. LEASTE."

So that's how you feel about sin and sinners, is it, stranger? Well, your attitude isn't original. Lads like you have been feeling like that since Adam was a pup and about 1900 years ago A Certain One gave them the perfect answer.

"Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," said He, looking with scorn upon their cruel and stupid faces. And then, to the poor sinner kneeling at His feet: "Thy sins are forgiven. Go, and sin no more."

He, whose heart knew the inner secrets of all weakness and all suffering, could forgive. But forgiveness, to you, is a pain in the neck.

All right, since you're all for treating the transgressor with brutal frankness, let me give you a taste of your own medicine. Do you know what I think about you? Listen!

They had a lot of excitement that you passed up because you were afraid to take a chance, and now you're peeved because they're getting a little attention, and you want to hog it all for yourself.

LUST FOR CRUELTY

If you really loved righteousness you'd not be snarling at the poor devil who wants to reform. You'd be trying to help him, instead. You'd be trying to show him, by your own attitude, the "beauty of holiness."

But you, on the contrary, are trying to indulge your secret lust for cruelty—to gratify your own vicious egotism—by punishing him.

One glimpse of your variety of righteousness, stranger, would make any sinner scoot for the nearest nice, comfortably wallow.

And here's just one more inside tip on Exhibit A. You boast that you've passed up all the temptations, but there's one you didn't pass up, and that's the temptation to be "holier than thou."

Personally, if I had to take my choice between living in hell with a good old-fashioned, rollicking "damned soul" or going heaven with one of you righteous Pilgrims, I'd choose hell every time.

So, now, gwan and pin a few more halos on yourself. As for me, I'm going to continue to forgive sinners, for God only knows how much forgiveness I need myself!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Measles Highly Dangerous and Generally Avoidable

Not so many years ago there was a general belief among parents that every child must have the so-called "diseases of children." Measles, scarlet fever, chicken pox and whooping cough were regarded as necessary evils. Now we have learned that exposure to these infections is a calamity to the growing child, and that the utmost care should be taken to avoid all contact with those suffering from these diseases.

Dr. Copeland

Among the diseases which children are particularly liable to take, measles is the most contagious and severe. One case of measles in a household or a school is almost certain to be followed by several other cases.

The early symptoms of the disease are catarrhal, like a "cold in the head." There will be running nose and reddened eyes, sneezing and often a dry cough. These symptoms come on usually from 11 to 14 days after exposure. The characteristic eruption does not appear until three or four days later.

At this early period the disease is most infectious. Persons carelessly coming in contact with children who seem to have nothing worse than bad colds may learn, too late, that measles is waiting just around the corner.

Science has made it possible to discover the real ailment before the appearance of the eruption. This is done by a blood examination, and also by the tiny bluish-white spots that, in a good light, may be seen on the inside of the cheeks. Also there is a reddened line of congestion along the inner surface of the lower eyelid. A trained observer will find these.

On the third or fourth day, the eruption appears. It shows first behind the ears, on the forehead and neck. From these regions it rapidly spreads to other parts of the body. At first the small, dusky red, elevated spots are separate and distinct. Later they form groups in the form of a half moon, leaving areas of healthy skin between the blotches. This peculiar appearance and the distribution of the rash are characteristic of measles.

With the appearance of the eruption the fever mounts. The catarrhal symptoms increase in severity and bronchitis develops. There is slight change in the condition of the little patient for four days after the eruption appears, then the redness of the skin begins to fade, the fever diminishes and at the end of another four days convalescence is well on its way.

Unfortunately if the utmost care has not been employed during the illness, a train of serious ills may follow the disease. The eyes may continue inflamed for weeks and discharging ears, a bronchopneumonia or chronic bronchitis may develope.

When the disease is once developed the symptoms are met as they arise. The eyes should be shielded from the light, and a darkened room will promote comfort.

Recently the injection of the blood of a patient convalescing from measles has been used to modify the attack; but as the supply is limited and the injection must be made before the sixth day of the period after exposure, the use of this treatment is limited.

In any event "prevention is the best cure." Bear in mind that deliberate exposure of children to infection from any of the childhood's diseases is a practice most emphatically to be condemned.

Household Hints

When a cake sticks to the tin, turn it upside down and cover the bottom and sides of the tin with a real damp cloth; this will loosen the cake.

Silk stockings which have been washed should, when partly dry, be rubbed with a flannel till moisture is extracted, when they will not require mangling or ironing.

THE WORST OF ALL CRIMES ... Kidnaping More Terrible Than Murder

By NELL BRINKLEY

We have words of terror un-numbered in our language—but there is not one so terrible to the person who has a child or children as that ancient one—KIDNAPER. That word contains others of dread—Despair—Fear—Agony—bottomless Sorrow—and Murder—for the murder of a mother would be a lesser crime against her than to steal her child. The kidnaper deals her out from a clear sky of happiness the very epitome of fear—far beyond any fear that she could possibly feel for herself, beyond the fear of death, beyond the fear of any other catastrophe that could overtake her. He takes the thing that she loves best, shelters most, fears for the deepest and has the divinest compassion for. And leaves her in the blind darkness of ignorance of where in all the wide, terrible, beautiful world it is and how it is faring! There could be no pain for a mother beyond this.

FEAR has always been a sad and terrible word, and those who will it upon another in any way are of the wicked. But to deal a woman, the mother of a baby, fear in its last and most overwhelming form—is a crime for capital punishment, no matter how harmless the ending. "Death to the kidnaper!" should be a universal law, without question or debate. Making it impossible for this human outside humanity, whose trade a respectable safe-cracker would scorn to think of, to be known—and go on living!

There have been women in kidnaping bands; women beyond belief, whom no other woman would trust her child to; women without the imagination of mercy. They should be dealt exactly the same fate as the man. For they make a fearful mockery of the world around a poor, little mother whose child is gone—a terrible dole from one woman to another. To wake to a sudden world—a house—without the child of your delight! The sunlight, the tree at the window, a laugh, every single thing of beauty that you saw with your child turned into pain.

How many mothers have known this terrible question of "WHERE?"—some of them never knowing more than that question about the vanished child—in this United States of ours—thanks to the greatest of all criminals—the kidnaper. It is no platitude, this old saying that a mother is happy if her child is happy—knows no pain if her child is safe and well. And the mother of a stolen child can know none of this—every moment is a crucifixion of her heart and mind that can feel nothing of certainty, only ignorance and unbearable anxiety, and the question, "Where?"

Her heart knows that her child wants its mother, and she is as one blind, who cannot find the way!

This is a hard story to write. We have written of little "Anne" and her husband," adding to the world's happiness in their happiness. And now we must join with every father and mother in the hope that they will get their happiness back again.

Heart of a Wife -:- -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen Approves of the Revision of Play

"Well?" Philip Veritzen's voice was humorously interrogative, "afraid to look at me?"

I was sincerely glad that Dicky was not within hearing of that suave amused question. It sounded exactly like the tone a man would use who was addressing the woman of his heart romantically. But I knew that there was no shred of romance left in Philip Veritzen's heart for me, and that his amusement was that of a great producer watching the perturbation of a tyro submitting her first play to him. I must take his question exactly as he meant it, must show no consciousness that I well remembered the time when there would have been a far different meaning behind that caressing tone.

"Horribly afraid," I said lightly, forcing myself to look at him, and my lips to a smile. "This is my first play you know."

"But didn't I tell you that it was an unusually fine one?"

"Yes," I answered, "but the revision—you didn't like those lines of Vickers at all."

"Of course not," he said. His voice held the same disgusted note that I had heard there when he had first commented upon the lines of the character Vickers.

"I still insist that you could not have written those lines while you were in the possession of your senses. They were so unlike the rest of your work. You must have had a nightmare to have imagined them. These revisions, on the contrary, are in keeping with the rest of the act, and now that it is completed I don't mind telling you that I am most enthusiastic about the play so far."

"I am so glad you like it," I said.

"'Like' isn't the word," he retorted. "I tell you quite frankly I am more enthusiastic over this play than I have been over anything in years. The one question now is what you're going to do with the fourth act. So many plays have gone on the rocks because of a bad finale. If you can get that, my child, you will have arrived. I like the outline and I am very sure that you can carry it oft as you have planned it. You're sure you can't do it in less than ten days? I am so anxious to see the play as a whole. If you finish it satisfactorily I want to begin work on it at once."

"I'm sorry," I said firmly, "but ten days is the shortest time in which I can promise it."

"Yes," acquiesced Mr. Veritzen thoughtfully. "I suppose that's so. After all, it's your play. But you'll be wise if you do it in seven and rest for three before you begin."

"Are you by any chance clairvoyant?" I asked.

"Why?" he countered.

"Because that's what I planned to do," I said; "or, rather, my husband planned it for me."

"Your husband?" Did I imagine it, or was there an edge in his voice as he made the query?

"Yes, he has planned a complete rest for me at a little hotel on the ocean beach near Montauk."

"Which one?" Mr. Veritzen asked.

I named the hotel, and he nodded thoughtfully.

"I know it very well," he said. "Indeed, I have thought of moving from the place where I now am to the other one for the rest of the summer. When are you going down?"

"This afternoon after luncheon."

"Would you like to have me drive you down? Otto has nothing else to do."

"Thank you," I said demurely, "but my husband and I are taking our car down."

He started perceptibly, and his eyebrows drew together in a disapproving frown.

"Do you mean that you and your husband are going on this outing together?" he asked.

Something in his face and voice brought vividly to my mind the regime he had laid down for Mary and the things I had heard about his peculiar views as to the conduct of actresses whom he sponsored. I had heard that he insisted upon regulating their private lives with military severity. His theory was said to be the complete subjugation of a neophyte's will to his. Did he, perchance?—I sheered off from the thought and answered him quickly with an apparent wide-eyed naivette which I flattered myself was quite plausible.

"But, of course," I said, "we're going together."

Mr. Veritzen's frown was portentious now, and his tones distinctly frapped.

"But that will never do," he said. "You seem to have a very elastic idea of the personal responsibilities you have taken upon yourself in this play. You've promised me to deliver this fourth act in 10 days. You cannot do it well if you permit yourself to be distracted from your work, as an outing with anyone, even your husband, inevitably would do. I am sorry, but I must absolutely forbid you to go under those circumstances."

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Informal Wedding Attire

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. In attending an informal wedding at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, at the home of the bride's aunt, would it be proper to wear a long, sleeveless dress or would a light crepe dress with sleeves be appropriate?

2. Also is it in order to bring the wedding gift with us, or should it be sent to the home of the bride before the wedding?

GRATEFUL.

1. If the wedding is really to be informal, the light crepe dress with sleeves would seem the more appropriate one to wear.

2. Don't take the wedding gift with you. Be sure to send it to the bride-to-be at her home as soon as you can before the wedding.

Alighting From a Car

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the correct way to alight from a street car when you are with an escort?

PUZZLED.

The man goes first from the car, and then is in position, after he has alighted from the car, to help the girl to step down to the pavement. In helping her to alight, he holds out his hand to help her, or if it is more convenient, he holds his hand under her elbow.

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Card Reading Insures Game

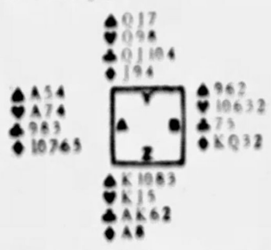
Not the spectacular, but steadily obtaining the last possible trick out of each hand played, is what enables the expert to win with slightly poorer cards than those held by weaker opponents. The average player loses unnecessarily about 750 points an hour; the expert may not lose a single point in a whole evening. The hand shown below shows where one slip may cost game:



Z made an opening bid of 2-No Trumps, which his partner raised to 3-No Trumps. He failed to go game on a very simple problem in card reading. The opening lead was the 5 of diamonds. Dummy played low; B put up his Q, and Z declined to play his ace. Having four of his partner's suit, B followed the rule of leading back his original fourth-best card, so that Z's ace fell on B's deuce, leaving dummy's J unprotected. The declarer proceeded to establish his spades. A won the second round of that suit, and again led diamonds, picking up two tricks in that suit; these two tricks, together with the one previous diamond trick, and the two tricks won by A's two aces, totaled five tricks, defeating the game contract by one trick. Everyone remarked that it was "a tough luck hand," but was it?

When A makes his opening lead of the 5 of diamonds "the rule of eleven" proves that B holds just two cards in diamonds that are higher than the 5. Deduct 5 from 11, the answer is 6. This means that outside the hand of the leader there must be held just six higher diamonds than the 5. Count them: Dummy has two, the declarer holds two, therefore Z also must have two. When he plays his Q of diamonds B flatly denies holding the missing 10. B may hold either the K, 7 or 6, but by no possibility can he hold the 10, when dummy shows the J, as a play of the 10 would as certainly force Z's ace as would the Q. Knowing that the missing 10 must lie in A's hand, the declarer should see that dummy's J-9 held over A's 10 will certainly win a diamond trick, provided he wins the first trick with his ace. Only a stupid notion that he must not put his ace on the first trick prevented from going game.

If Z wins the first trick with his ace of diamonds, when A gains entry with his ace of spades, on the second lead of that suit, A will again lead his diamonds. If the 10 is led, dummy's J will cover, and B's K will win the trick. But dummy's 9 will win the third round of the suit. In case A leads low, instead of leading his 10 through dummy's J-9, the 9 will force B's K, and the J will win the third round of the suit. Two diamond tricks, three spade tricks, and four club tricks can be won against any defense. Game is assured if Z will play the hand as it should be played. Late in the play, after Z has won his nine tricks, A will take a trick with his ace of hearts, and win his two diamond tricks, but that will not matter.

HOSPITAL LEAP KILLS WOMAN

Mrs. Mary Sklenarik, 43, of 7267 Somerset street, a Mercy Hospital patient, jumped from a fourth floor window yesterday and died several hours later in the hospital, according to a coroner's report.

Mrs. Sklenarik was being treated for nervous disorders, it was said. A visitor saw her leap from the window and notified an official, who found Mrs. Sklenarik in a courtyard unconscious.

She was the wife of Charles Sklenarik, an architect, who had been in Washington on business. He hurried here by train when notified. Mrs. Sklenarik leaves two children.

POLITICS
Relief Problem May Become Political
By MARK SHIELDS

Mr. Shields

If proposals to bond the city for $5,000,000 and the county for $10,000,000 for relief purposes are on the April primary ballot, as requested by business and industrial leaders representing the Allegheny County Welfare Emergency Association, this whole problem will become a political issue in a campaign already broadly overtoned with the conflict of politics.

Perhaps politics should not touch relief measures for dire need which everyone knows exists, and which everyone feels must be met, in some fashion. But politics will, just as there are evidences that politics has, though there has been some masking of its influence.

Mayor Kline quite plainly told the group which appeared before him yesterday to plead the cause of relief funds that meeting their suggestions would entail an inevitable three-mill increase in taxes next year. To that increase, though the Mayor did not mention it, the county's business being no part of his administration, there would be added county millage to pay sinking fund and interest charges for a county bond issue.

In raising this tax there cannot be the diversification possible to the federal government, or even to the state. This point is raised because one of the gentlemen addressing the Mayor pointed to the fact that the federal Congress now has for consideration a bill increasing taxes, with its passage assured. That bill touches sources not now taxed, and in decreasing the exemption on income taxes it at least touches only those who have an earning capacity above the level set for a decent standard of living.

Sponsors Oppose Federal Relief Bill

The thing difficult to reconcile in the minds of some of us who are interested in relief, and have watched the processes of its travail, is that practically all of those who approached the Mayor yesterday were opposed to the LaFollette-Costigan federal relief bill, which would have appropriated $375,000,000—of which Pennsylvania would have received a substantial share.

Opposition to this measure was mainly founded—in the open—on the charge that it was a "dole," and that we must shy from that uneconomic system, as we must. But that bill no more provided a dole than would the city bond issues, for the money available under the national appropriation would have been distributed through local social agencies, already established, exactly the same process of administration prescribed in the suggested bond issues.

Yesterday I heard a new explanation of opposition, first given currency by President Hoover in what some persons have thought was a sad attempt at humor. It was that Pennsylvania would have paid a much greater share of the tax to raise the federal funds than would have been its percentage proportion of relief.

* * *

Protests Now, What Of Increased Millage!

This is the first time I had heard it prated that Pennsylvania demands a quid pro quo in relieving a distress which is not local and not sectional, but which is national, some say international.

But even if that is the principle of Pennsylvanians, which I do not believe, then it applies more closely to this situation now before the Pittsburgh officials. For the great bulk of the revenue required to meet sinking fund and interest will come from those who do not participate directly in relief, even though they may need it as badly as a man in a bread line, suffering being relative.

If it was true this year when the tax millage was set, that Pittsburgh real estate was carrying all the tariff would bear, what would be the effect next year, with the millage increased?

Certainly this problem of relief must be met. Suffering, want, the emaciation of children now which will destroy adult health, must not be permitted.

But city and county bond issues should not be resorted to until all other forms of help have failed. What assistance, for example, has Pittsburgh given to the proposal for a $5,000,000,000 federal bond issue for public work? What for the federal appropriation for direct relief? What for state aid—not merely the Talbot bill, the outlay from which is only a drop in the bucket?

* * *

Issue Warrants Frank Discussion

Perhaps Pittsburgh can carry its burden alone. But that theory does not harmonize with the demands recently made of Council for tax reductions by potential business groups which declared the tax level already was too high. It would be higher next year than last.

Unfortunately, the claim has been made that all of those who seek federal relief are doing so to embarrass the President, which is not the case.

If relief can be secured without resort to any agency outside our own municipal borders, then fine and dandy. But the issue warrants broad and frank discussion in view of the political vortex into which the whole problem will be tossed in the April primary if Council and County Commissioners decide to submit the bond issues.

Mark Shields will talk on "Politics" over WCAE at 6 o'clock this evening.

CONTINUE FIGHT ON UNFAIR RATES
Crafton Consumers Meeting Friday; Bastow and Shoup Score Lobbying of Firms

A mass meeting protesting unfair utility rates is scheduled for tonight under the auspices of the Beechview Civic League in Borlan Hall, Beechview. Officers of the Allied Boards of Trade will speak.

Charges that the power of the utilities not only reached into the state government but also the national administration was charged last night at a public mass meeting in the John Morrow School by Harry Bastow, president of the Allied Trades body, and C. V. Shoup, secretary.

Domestic consumers will stage two mass meetings against excessive public utility rates Friday night as the state-wide campaign of the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association prepares battle lines to attack existing legislation unfair to the public.

Crafton district consumers will meet in Crafton Heights Methodist Episcopal Church auditorium. Charles Murray is arranging the meeting and will be chairman. Speakers representing the fair rate group will be O. W. Heselbarth, chairman; Harry Wohlwend and Dr. Joseph Steedle, of the Forty-fifth Senatorial District committee of the association.

Armstrong County will hold its first organization meeting at the Courthouse in Kittanning at the same time. The meeting has been called by the Forty-first Senatorial District committee, of which Burgess C. M. McLaughlin, of Freeport, is chairman. Speakers will include the state president, A. B Davidson, Tarentum; Burgess S. S. Baldridge, Apollo; Burgess J. Steele Butler, Brookville, and Mayor Joseph Heineman, Butler.

RAID 'NUMBERS' AT M'KEESPORT

Hearings for five men charged with operating a lottery and 36 others charged with gaming will be held this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Bernhard Volk, Versailles Township.

Ten state troopers from Greensburg barracks, armed with a search warrant, swooped down on a storeroom at 312 Mulberry street, McKeesport, yesterday, and broke up what they described as one of the largest "numbers" syndicate headquarters, which extended over four counties, police said.

Joseph Bahm, 705 Union avenue, McKeesport, is said by police to be the head of the syndicate. With him, charged with the operating of the lottery, were his son, Sidney, 705 Union avenue; William Reddington, Ruben Building, McKeesport; Paul Whalen, 114 Seventh street, McKeesport, and John Mulligan, of Lee street, McKeesport. The other 36 men were said to be "pick-up" men.

Photo Finishers In Convention Here

The eighth annual junior convention of the Master Photo Finishers of America, Western Pennsylvania Division, was being held in Fort Pitt Hotel today. The principal speaker was to be Joseph G. Taylor, of New York, vice president of the organization, who was to speak on "Special Master Finishers' Business Promotion Items, Plans and Benefits for 1932."

Cedric G. Chase, national president, and M. C. Griswold, of the Eastman Kodak Company, were to speak at the afternoon session. The session will close tonight with the annual dinner.

Passion Play Group Meets Here Friday

A group of German character actors, who with a cast of local people will stage a passion play in English at Syria Mosque for a two-week period beginning March 21, will meet at William Penn Hotel Friday to arrange for their departure the following day to New Castle, where they are to present their play for a week.

Joseph Meier, famous German actor, will appear in the role of "Christus," and Paul Dietz, another German, will portray the role of "Pilate."

Centerville Borough Joins Fair Rate Body

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 9.—Centerville Borough is the latest municipality in this district to take out membership in the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association. South and West Brownsville recently joined.

REED PLANNING TO SPEAK HERE

Senator David A. Reed may address an open forum meeting in the Congress of Women's Clubs, 408 Penn avenue, Monday night to explain why he opposed the La Follette-Costigan relief measure in the Senate, it was announced today by the Allied Boards of Trade, through Secretary C. V. Shoup.

Senator Reed informed President Harry Bastow that he will notify the trade group Friday if it will be possible to appear here.

10 American Women Meet Queen of Italy

ROME, March 9.—(AP.)—Ten American women were presented to Queen Elena today at the Quirinal Palace by Mrs. John W. Garrett, wife of the ambassador from the United States.

American Legion's Jobless Campaign Wins Work For 712 Here

Part-time work totaling 703 jobs and nine permanent positions were announced today in the first reports received by the Allegheny County American Legion unemployed committee from posts in the district participating in the national campaign to find employment for 1,000,000 men and women.

The highest mark was reached in Sewickley, where Post 4 is co-operating with the permanent relief group of 18 civic, patriotic and church organizations. A canvass conducted by volunteer women workers in Sewickley, Edgeworth and Glen Osborne during the past two weeks resulted in 412 homes providing 648 jobs for men and women.

A permanent headquarters has been opened by the John Clarke Post, of Wilkinsburg, at 801 Wood street. Unemployed workers can register there afternoon and nights.

Employment for 40 men on road work in West Deer Township has been promised the Curtisville Post by the road supervisor, it was reported to headquarters. The men will be added gradually between now and March 14. The Homewood Post reported obtaining one permanent position. South Hills Post reported eight permanent positions obtained.

The county committee chairman, Robert J. Cochrane, Jr., said all men seeking work should apply to the Legion post nearest their homes. The county headquarters, telephone Atlantic 6460, will receive calls from persons who can offer positions.

SUIT OF OUSTED TEACHER FAILS

Judge S. H. Gardner, in Common Pleas Court today, granted a non-suit in the case of Strawder A. Ringer, Pasadena street, Mt. Washington, against Harry E. Winner, principal of South Hills High School, charging slander, at the conclusion of testimony for the plaintiff.

Attorney Harry F. Stambaugh, for the defense, held that the accusations of Ringer, former commercial instructor in the school, had been filed more than a year after the alleged utterances, and that the statute of limitations had expired.

Icy Swim

AUGUST SERRARO

MOTHER SAVES CHILDREN, DIES

An invalid mother of three children died from shock when a gas explosion wrecked the adjoining three-story brick dwelling of Romeo Scrusciolo, Kossuth street and Pennsylvania avenue, Rochester, early today.

After awakening her children when the fire that followed the explosion spread to her residence, Mrs. Mary Humbert, 26, of 61 Kossuth street, fled from her home and collapsed. She died en route to the hospital.

The explosion tore the Scrusciolo residence from its foundations. Scrusciolo and his family were absent, police said. The blast was heard throughout the valley, and the fire that followed threatened momentarily to spread rapidly.

BOY VANISHES IN ICY SWIM

The Monongahela River near the site of the new South Tenth Street Bridge was to be dragged by police today for the body of August Serraro, 20, of 244 Lombard street, who was believed to have drowned in his attempt to swim across the stream in view of almost a score of his friends last night.

Donning a bathing suit at the north shore, Serraro waded into the water while his friends watched in the bitter cold. When he reached midstream, the onlookers sped in automobiles over the Liberty Bridge to the other shore. But when they reached the other bank no trace of Serraro was found.

Serraro's friends said he boasted of his ability as a swimmer, recalling how he swam across last year. He wagered his acquaintances all day yesterday and to demonstrate that he could he made the attempt again, but failed to reach the other side.

Cold, Tired, Sleepy He Phones Cops For Patrol Ride

The stranger was cold, tired and sleepy. Service was his motto.

He telephoned the McKeesport Police Station and demanded that the patrol be rushed to Dutch Hill, near the McKeesport-Glassport line, as quickly as possible.

At Dutch Hill the "weary one" met the patrol and said:

"I called the wagon. I'm cold, tired and sleepy. I have to sleep somewhere; so drive me to the police station."

24,000 HOMES LISTED FOR RELIEF
Donations of $100 for Each To Be Sought; Pressure on Emergency Group Grows

The campaign to provide help for 24,000 needy families in Allegheny County for three months, the plan of Senator Frank J. Harris, adopted yesterday by the Emergency Association, was started today from headquarters in the William Penn Hotel.

Senator Harris, who has accepted the chairmanship of the campaign, was today made a member of the operating committee of the Emergency Association.

Workers are being organized and vigorous efforts are being made to put the new plan in operation on a wide scale. The immediate goal is to secure 24,000 contributions of $100 each. The necessities of life will be provided for one family for three months by each $100 gift.

DIVIDE DONATIONS

In many instances it will be a family helping a family. Although complete plans have not yet been announced, it is understood that the $100 subscription may be divided in cases where donors are eager to help, but unable to give the entire sum.

Arthur E. Braun, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Emergency Association, made it clear that it is not to replace any of the proposed city and county bond issues or the $500,000 city appropriation now under consideration by Mayor Charles H. Kline.

The immediately relief sought in the new drive is to bridge the gap which will occur before bond issues can possibly be approved by the voters.

A. K. Oliver, leader in the Welfare Fund organization, declared that although some improvement is expected in employment with the opening of the spring season, there is no immediate prospect of less pressure in relief demands.

$33 MONTHLY

The Harris plan would provide $33.33 a month for each family receiving aid. The Emergency Association leaders selected it after long consideration as the most constructive way to meet the needs through private subscription.

Mayor Kline, following his conference with Emergency Association leaders, asked for time to consider the request that he declare a public emergency. The burden on the small taxpayer has reached the point where it cannot be increased, he declared.

KLINE ASKS TIME

He said:

"I am not antagonistic to your proposition. I would like more time to consider it."

Frank B. Bell, spokesman for the Emergency Association group, thanked the Mayor for his consideration and promised any information he might need in making his decision.

Opponents of the $5,000,000 city relief bond issues, legislation for which was introduced Monday in Council, are to be given a hearing before Council this afternoon. The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board is the chief objector. The realty men say the money should be raised in some other way than by taxing real estate which they say is already overburdened.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 9.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

He was in life rather small of stature, not particularly impressive, very modest and unassuming. Yet he produced something that at any hour of the day or night can quicken the blood, and thrill the nerves, of every American man, woman or child. His tunes were the Lincoln's Gettysburg address of music. El Capitan, Washington's Post, and Stars and Stripes Forever, are a monument that needs no concrete. It's for the soul, and not for the eye. Our little march king is dead. But his marches will be marched to down through the ages.

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL.

BOARD MEMBER CANDIDATE

Edward C. Kroll, of the Sixteenth Ward, employe of the County Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, has announced his platform as a candidate for member of the General Assembly from the Sixth Legislative District.

He stated he would support laws for immediate relief for the unemployed, abolishing the Public Service Commission, placing a tax on all public utilities property that now is exempt, old age pensions, a state bonus for service men and repeal of the blue laws and the prohibition acts.

Kroll served as sergeant overseas in the World War. He is past commander of Lincoln Post No. 286, American Legion; member of East Liberty Post No. 5, American Legion; member of A. C. Woestehoff Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and a member of the 40 and eight society.

Now You Can See World With Two Good Indorsers

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Well, folks, you can finally enjoy yourself on the installment plan.

You can go to Europe on the deferred payment system. A dollar down, and a dollar when they catch you.

Just give the steamboat companies a slow note on a barge in Egypt and see the world with two reliable indorsers.

It reverses the entire easy payment plan. In the past the guy who signed your note liked to keep you in sight. Now he has to stand on the wharf and wave you goodbye when you sail for Pernambuco in the morning.

And no matter where you go you are sure that two guys will be glad to see you come back. The co-signer and his pal.

We want to see Venice because grandpop got lumbago dedicating cornerstones in that town.

CONSTABLE THOMAS R. BENNETT 'SQUIRE ALBERT T. LORCH

DELLS YIELDS LARGEST STILL

What was described as the largest combination wildcat brewery and alcohol rectifying plant ever seized in Allegheny County was raided early today by Justice of the Peace Joseph R. Hillman, of Allison Park, and Constable Thomas R. Bennett in a large one-story building in the rear of the Dells roadhouse on the Wildwood road, Wildwood. The Dells was built by the late Frank Bongiovanni, for many years a downtown restaurant proprietor.

As the officers entered the building a burglar alarm was sounded and a suspect, ignoring the officer's shouts, slipped to safety through a trap door. Constable Bennett fired several shots at the fleeing man as he disappeared into a thicket.

In one room, the squire said he found two 10,000 gallon vats of beer mash, and in another adjoining waterproofed room, two alcohol stills, one 2,000 and the other 1,000 gallon capacity, were found filled with denatured alcohol. A large number of drums believed to contain grain alcohol were seized.

Jerry Veschi was found in a neighboring house, and was arrested. He denied knowledge of the plant.

The raid was made after the constable saw a load of staves used in the manufacture of vats taken to the grounds.

HOW THE ENGLISH REDUCE 6 OR 7 POUNDS WEEKLY

Yet Eat, Drink All They Want

Recently Brought Here from England, the Andrews Method of Quick Fat Reduction Enables Overweight People to Lose 6 or More Pounds a Week Without Starvation or Weakening Exercises.

It seems that the British have found a way to rip off excess fat that's the dream of every too-fat person. That is, to rip it off without starving, without tiring exercise.

Under an extraordinarily simple and pleasant regimen discovered there, the average fat person loses as much as six to ten pounds weekly; yet suffers no pangs of hunger, no aching muscles, no weakness or depression. Returning travelers from Europe talked so much about it, that it has now been brought to this country. Anyone can follow it; so if you want to get thin, here's your chance.

Eat, Sleep, Drink and Grow Thin, Doing Only This

All the method involves is a glass of water before breakfast—to clear the intestines and tone the system—and a few minor changes in your diet.

Here is what you do: Tear this article out and save it, so you won't forget.

Before Breakfast: Drink an ordinary tumbler full of cool water to which you've added a teaspoon of effervescent salt. (Get the brand named "Andrews" at any drug store.) This to eliminate the usual curse of fat people: accumulated poisons and bloat. Also to cut the moisture weight of your body—sometimes as much as three pounds in one day.

At Meals: Cut out ONLY fat meats. Eat your usual quantity of lean meats and ADD a double-supply of green vegetables... spinach, cabbage, fresh peas, lettuce, etc. Then for dessert, shift from pastry and pies to FRESH FRUIT. The more you eat of these the better. They're super-nourishing vitamin foods.

Drink, too, if you like them, sauerkraut juice, tomato juice or orange juice "cocktails" before lunch and supper. Eat fresh fruit, too, before bed if you like to eat before retiring.

That's all you do. No wonder England and all of Europe is cheering this discovery. You lose weight day by day, week by week... usually from six or seven pounds weekly to even as much as ten pounds, and feel amazingly more alert and active while you are. Doctors of world knowledge widely endorse this way. The salt tones and clears the system. The vitamin foods take the place of those that build weight and fat, and thus fat goes like magic.

Embark on the Great Adventure of getting thin today. Ask your doctor about this if you wish to be doubly sure this is the simplest, safest way to lose embarrassing bulk. You can get Andrews Effervescent Salt at any drug store for a few cents.

But her skin, Tragic!

By Julia Foster ★

What a marvelous figure—youthful—graceful—perfection in every line. But what a pitiful contrast as she came nearer. Her skin—what a shame! To think—a few words from me could have done so much for her.

* * *

Be thankful your own skin need never be "tragic." Beauty experts will tell you any skin can be kept soft, youthful, exquisite.

Morning and evening, apply to face and throat a generous lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Work well into the pores with your hands. Then rinse thoroughly with warm water, and finish with a cold rinse. Hot water should never touch your face. After this, in the morning, your make-up. At night, if your skin is dry, follow with oil or tissue cream.

Easy enough, isn't it? And there's no secret why Palmolive is recommended. For years, more than 20,000 of the world's leading beauty specialists have recommended it above all other soaps for this foundation cleansing. The reason is told in full in the panel at right, under the heading, "Beauty In a Test Tube". Please read it!

Bathe, relax, beautify

Some day, soon, when you're so tired you feel like cancelling an engagement, try this instead! I learned it from a beauty specialist. It's a beauty relaxation treatment.

Shave up a whole cake of Palmolive. Then melt it by boiling in 4 cups of water and pour the solution into your tub. Step in, relax. Then massage every inch of your body, every pore, with rich lather from another cake of Palmolive. The olive and palm oils will benefit your skin. When you get out, you'll find fatigue, nervousness, gone! You won't want to cancel anything!

And above all, start at once on that twice-a-day Palmolive facial treatment. That's most important for keeping your skin soft and supple, your complexion youthful. Try it for ten days, and see.

BEAUTY IN A TEST TUBE

But can you get enough olive oil in soap? How much, actually, goes into Palmolive? Here is the exact amount of olive oil that goes into every ten-cent cake of Palmolive—in this test tube at the right. To this generous olive oil content can be directly traced Palmolive's great complexion benefits. It is the only large-selling soap made of vegetable oils exclusively. The only one using olive oil as a base. Other ingredients are simply oils from palm trees necessary to produce a richer, creamier, more workable lather. The color is the natural green of olive and palm oils—no artificial coloring.

More than 20,000 of the world's beauty experts have for years urged Palmolive Soap in preference to all others. Heed their advice!

FREE AIRPLANE TRIP STIRS INTEREST

Pittsburgh Boys Turn Air-Minded; Youths 15 to 20 Are Eligible

Hundreds of Pittsburgh boys are air-minded. This is evident from the unusual interest that has been manifested in the contest for the free airplane trip to Detroit and return that the Sun-Telegraph is going to award in the contest sponsored by the National Aircraft show and the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America.

The winner of this contest will make the airplane trip on or about Saturday, April 2, the date of the opening of the aircraft exposition in Detroit.

Aside from the trip by air to and from Detroit the lucky boy will also be given a special airplane tour over Detroit, will attend the show as a special guest and will be given a trip through Detroit which will include the Ford automobile plant.

Only boys from 15 to 20 years of age are eligible and the winner must have the consent of his parents to make the trip.

24 QUESTIONS

The contest includes 24 questions on aeronautics,—two a day for 12 days—to follow with a letter of 100 words telling what candidates think about the advantage of air mail and air travel.

The questions for today are as follows:

7. If you wanted to go from your home to Detroit by air, who would you call to obtain information on the service?

8. How would you go about making a reservation for a seat in a plane, if you wanted to travel by air from your home to Detroit?

So that boys who missed the first six questions may still enter the contest these questions are herewith reprinted:

1. How much more does it cost to send the average letter by air mail than by ordinary mail?

2. Can ordinary stamps be used for an air mail letter?

3. If ordinary stamps can be used for an air mail letter, how would you mark the envelope to insure delivery by air?

4. How much time is saved in sending a letter by air from your home to Detroit?

5. How many times a day does the air mail leave your city for Detroit?

6. Do the air mail lines carry passengers in their planes?

TRIP SCHEDULED

GOING
Leave Pittsburgh Tuesday, April 5, 11:30 a. m.
Arrive Cleveland Tuesday, April 5, 12:30 p. m.
Century Air Lines—No. 3.
Leave Cleveland Tuesday, April 5, 1:30 p. m.
Arrive Detroit Tuesday, April 5, 2:45 p. m.
RETURNING
Century Air Lines—No. 4.
Leave Detroit Friday, April 8, 2:15 p. m.
Arrive Cleveland Friday, April 8, 3:35 p. m.
Pennsylvania Air Lines—No. 6.
Leave Cleveland Friday, April 8, 4:30 p. m.
Arrive Pittsburgh Friday, April 8, 5:45 p. m.

24 QUESTIONS

The boy who sends in the most nearly correct set of answers to the 24 questions and submits the best 100-word letter will be the winner. Should there be ties, the contestants so tied will be given an equal award. There will be a board of three judges to examine the papers.

INCOME TAX RETURNS

Suggestions to Aid in Making Reports to Government

(This is the thirteenth of a series of articles planned to give assistance in making out federal income tax returns.)

With a certain proviso, compensation paid by a state or "political subdivision thereof," such as a county or city, to its officers and employes is not taxable income. The proviso is that the wages of such officers and employes must be rendered in connection with the "essential governmental functions of the state or political subdivision" as distinguished from its proprietary functions. The salaries of the governor of a state, mayor of a city, councilman, board of aldermen, public school teachers and policemen and firemen are not taxable. But the compensation received by employes of waterworks owned and operated by a municipality, or a municipally owned and operated street railway, is taxable, for the reason that they are engaged in activities which are not governmental.

Fees for special services to a state are taxable, as, for example, compensation paid architects and builders for planning and erecting a state capitol or other state or municipal building. An officer or employe of a state, for the purpose of the income tax law, is one whose services are continuous and not occasional or temporary.

Landlord Held As Window Breaker

Nicholas Perri, 1630 Methyl street, was held for court on charges of aggravated assault and battery and surety of the peace, by Alderman Jacob Yeager, of 1811 West Liberty avenue, last night, after Mrs. Bertha Schmitt, of 1600 Rutherford street, testified he broke all but one window in her home last Thursday night.

Perri, owner of the house, was alleged to have broken the windows because Mrs. Schmitt refused to vacate when unable to pay her rent. Some of the glass was said to have cut her daughter, Caroline, 9.

Harry Brown, manager of the Nixon, takes pleasure in announcing—isn't Harry the formal boy, now?—in announcing that the fifth play of the Theater Guild subscription season will be Bernard Shaw's new play, "Too True To Be Good," which had its premiere in Boston last week. It will be in the Nixon the week of March 21, with a cast headed by Beatrice Lillie and including Hope Williams, Pedro De Cordoba, Frank Shannon, Hugh Sinclair, Ernest Cossart, Leo G. Carrol and others. Monday will be the earliest day to approach the box office for seats.

Willie and Eugene Howard are the funny boys of George White's "Scandals," latest edition, which will bring dawn to the dark Alvin Easter week. Ethel Barrymore Colt, who appeared in the same theater last season with her mother in "Scarlet Sister Mary," also is among Mr. White's troupers. Likewise Rudy Vallee, Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, who recently were in our midst for a coupla "Hot-Cha" weeks, wrote the songs and music of "Scandals," which will be the New York production.

* * *

Maude Adams and Otis Skinner, touring again after a Chicago run, are said to be intent on taking "The Merchant of Venice" as far as California . . . Charley Grapewin, veteran vaude funster, has been added to the cast of the Elissa Landi picture, "The Woman in Room Thirteen" . . . Anne Forrest is playing in a revival of "Death Takes a Holiday" in Chicago, produced by George Sharp and George Wintz . . . Patricia O'Brien, wife of Pat O'Brien, will appear on the screen for the first time in a picture that will star Owen Moore . . . Bert Lytell has bought a play, "Survival," in which he expects that he will star in the fall. It is the first work of a Mr. Daniel James . . . "Two Seconds," with Edward Robinson as star, will be filmed with Guy Kibbee in a leading role . . . Douglas Fairbanks and his crew have arrived in Papeete, Tahiti, to begin production on "Tropical Knight," a modern Robinson Crusoe filum.

Leslie Fenton Is Cast With Bankhead

Leslie Fenton and Jamas Finlayson will support Tallulah Bankhead in her next starring picture, "Thunder Below." Richard Wallace is directing.

Ann Harding Has Pichel And Laurence Olivier As Leading Men

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, March 9.

After a record amount of hemming and hawing, Radie has selected Irving Pichel to play Ann Harding's other husband in "Westward Passage." She has two, you know, in the Margaret Ayer Barnes story. One a solid, conservative fellow—that's Pichel—and another—volatile, charming—that's Laurence Olivier.

The story is about the heroine's indecision as to whether she wants a quiet, comfortable life or a gay, uncertain one.

Ann Harding

Production of the picture has been under way for some time, but Director Robert Milton couldn't make up his mind on an actor to play the conservative husband. Then the John Barrymore picture had to be postponed for a few days and Pichel became available. He was satisfactory to Milton, so everything is set now.

Like Ann Harding, Pichel is a product of the Little Theater. While Ann started with the Provincetown Players in New York, Pichel has been connected with various Little Theaters in California. He's under contract to Paramount now.

HERE'S GOSSIP

Greta Nissen and Weldon Heyburn stalled off all inquiries about their engagement at that party of Sonya Levien's. . . . Though John Boles has sung only two numbers on the screen in the last year—about 10 minutes—he still devotes an hour a day to vocal lessons. . . . J. M. Kerrigan has phonograph records of Graham McNamee's famous broadcast of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago. He recorded it himself from the radio. . . . Mae Clarke is so ill she will not be able to play in "The Radio Patrol." That means Universal will have to find both leads, for Ben Lyons will not be available either. . . . Vindication for the crooners. Tallulah Bankhead goes for Bing Crosby and Russ Colombo. She carries a portable phonograph around the studio, even to the portrait gallery. . . . Bayard Veiller tells me his son, Anthony, has written a good melodrama in "The D. A." There's talk of a local production. . . . Sam Katz, vice president of Paramount, arrives Monday. . . . Helen Vinson, the girl Jack Warner signed up in New York, will have a part in Bill Powell's new picture, "Jewel Robbery." . . . Alexander Kirkland injured his knee in an automobile accident in Santa Monica Saturday. It won't interfere with his appearing in "Strange Interlude."

GOULDING'S PLANS

One of Hollywood's most restless citizens is Edmund Goulding. With "Grand Hotel" almost cut, he is planning a getaway to Europe, where he wants to write a play called "Big Business." Says Ed:

Despite this, the author-director has managed to sell M. G. M. a story for Wallie Beery. It's about the wrestling game and is called "Flesh." Goulding tells me he got the idea from seeing Wallie in a dressing robe, and dashed the synopsis off in 20 minutes.

New Talkies Opening In Theaters

Two East End theaters change their entertainment bills today. "Barbara Stanwyck comes to the Enright for three days in "Forbidden." The Sheridan Square gets "Suicide Fleet," with Bill Boyd, Robert Armstrong and James Gleason, also for three days.

One of Booth Tarkington's popular stories, "The Plutocrat," has been made into a talking picture by Fox called "Business and Pleasure," and with a cast headed by Will Rogers, Joel McCrea, Jetta Goudal, Peggy Ross and Boris Karloff, will open tomorrow in the Fulton.

MARION DAVIES FILM

In "Polly of the Circus," coming Friday to Loew's Penn, Marion Davies and Clark Gable, who are co-starred, are supported by "The Flying Codonas," famous troupe of aerial artists. In this story of circus life under the big top, Miss Davies plays the role of Mme. Polly, queen of the air. The famous acrobats were brought especially from their winter quarters in the East to appear in the picture.

Richard Dix heads the cast of "The Lost Squadron," which comes to the screen of the Stanley on Friday. It is an air romance. The stage show is headed by Dick Powell, Evelyn Wilson, Rio Brothers and Petite Douglas.

OTHER BOOKINGS

Charles Farrell and Marian Nixon are teamed together in the romantic film, "After Tomorrow," which opens Friday in the Warner.

Walter Huston has the role of a two-gun marshal, who brings his six-shooters and law and order to Tombstone, Ariz., in "Law and Order," which opens in the Harris Saturday.

Thomas Meighan, Charlotte Greenwood and Linda Watkins have the leads in "Cheaters at Play," coming Friday to the Davis and Saturday to the Enright.

Radio Star

Arthur Tracy, prominent radio singer, will make personal appearance in the Penn, beginning Saturday. Though the new stage and screen bill opens Friday, Mr. Tracy will not be able to come until the following day.

Miss Dee as Ingenue In 'Clara Deane'

Frances Dee has been assigned the ingenue lead in the film version of Arthur M. Brilant's play, "Clara Deane," in which Wynne Gibson will enact the title role. Other additions to the cast are Dudley Digges and Pat O'Brien. Production has just started under the direction of Louis Gasnier and Max Marcin.

Virginia Bruce to Play In 'Sky Bride!'

Virginia Bruce will play the feminine lead in the air film "Sky Bride." Other cast additions are Louise Closser Hale, Frank Rice and Hooper Atchley. Roles also will be played by Richard Arlen, Jack Oakie, Robert Coogan, Charles Starrett, Tom Douglas and Harold Goodwin. Stephen Roberts handles the megaphone.

Alison Skipworth Gets Role in 'Sinners'

Kent Taylor, Alison Skipworth, Reginald Barlow, Luke Cosgrove and Walter Byron have joined the cast of "Sinners in the Sun," film version of the Mildred Cram magazine story, "The Beachcomber," being directed by David Burton with Adrienne Ames, Russ Clark, Frances Moffett, Chester Morris and Carole Lombard featured.

Declare Strangled Man Killed Self

Deputy coroners investigating the death of Frank Fichinger, 47, whose body was found yesterday in his room at 1164 East Ohio street, today declared he had taken his own life.

Marks on the man's neck first led to the belief that he had been murdered, but deputy coroners reported finding a piece of window cord fashioned into a noose and attached to a door jamb. They concluded Fichinger strangled himself. Papers in his pockets indicated he was formerly an employe of the Public Works Department and had served in the United States Army in 1908.

HEEDS OLD LESSON TAUGHT BY HONUS

WHEN HONUS WAGNER finally gave up big league baseball at the close of the season of 1917, it was only his failing legs that prompted the decision. As Wagner used to describe it, there had been a time when his youthful props were so full of zip that they were constantly urging, "Come on, Honus, let's go and play ball." But after the strain of 21 seasons and 2,794 championship games in the majors, things were reversed. Then it was Wagner who had to do the urging. "Come on legs, we've got to play ball," he had to plead.

Frank Crosetti

That was all that made the Flying Dutchman quit. The old batting eye was as keen as ever, and his mighty throwing arm had lost none of its power. It was in the latter respect that Wagner's long career stood as an object lesson for all the shortstops that were to follow him in the big show. He had saved his arm by taking scrupulous care of it. He never threw any harder than was necessary. He knew the speed of every opposing player and his judgment of pace was remarkable. If he had to hurry, he could send the ball across the diamond like a bullet. But if the batsman loafed, so did Honus. If the hitter were a slow runner, Wagner eased up accordingly. He timed the play at first base with uncanny judgment. Always the ball beat the runner just by inches.

JOE BOLEY HAS prolonged the life of a wing none too strong by the same method, and one of the new shortstops starting out early to copy Wagner's style and heed the lesson he taught in arm-saving is Frank Crosetti, high-priced San Francisco recruit with the Yankees. The coast recruit has the knack of gauging the speed of baserunners and looping his throw over to first base just in time to nip them.

Crosetti does not burn his arm whipping the ball to first, but times his throws so that they do the trick with as little strain on the muscular equipment as possible. Joe McCarthy likes him for that. He says it shows the kid has a head.

WHETHER THEY PLAYED for John McGraw on the Giants, or merely in the same league with him, baseball players continue to hold the New York manager in regard and affection after they pass out of the big show. When they run across a promising young player it is to McGraw that they send him.

The Giant leader obtained in that manner Mel Ott, Freddie Lindstrom and Frank Healy, the last named a young catcher now making good, and three others have been added to the training squad on other friendly tips from old players. George Whitted recommended Gilbert English, an infielder; Fred Snodgrass sent up George Martin, an outfielder, and Art Nehf personally escorted to camp Fred Lieber, a first baseman.

THE CUBS CAN'T get along without Rogers Hornsby. He admits it. Asked if he intended to do any playing for his club this year, Hornsby modestly replied: "You can't very well keep out of the lineup a man who drives in a run per game." It is now figured that if Hornsby plays, it will be at third base. Bill Herman, Louisville recruit, appears to be giving satisfaction at second, and though Stanley Hack has made a flashy fielding start at third, there is some doubt as to his ability to last.

ONE OF PITTSBURGH'S most widely known baseball players of the old days, Henry (Dutchy) Lehrman, of the South Side, has been discharged from South Side Hospital, where he was confined for three months with a broken hip, suffered when he was struck by an automobile.

Dutchy Lehrman

Lehrman, a catcher in his day, and one of the Babe Ruths of that era as a slugger and home-run hitter, had his last professional engagement with the Westfield (N. Y.) club, of the New York State League, in 1897. He is a veteran of the stormy and strenuous years of the sport. It was a fighting game for iron men in those days. A player had to stick to his post in spite of any bumps or bruises he might receive, and at that time the present major league club limit of 40 athletes up to June 15 would have sounded like the roster of a whole league.

THE SOUTH SIDER caught in the days when the catcher did not stay up behind the bat at all times. Instead, the receiver stood far back, took the early pitches to each batsman on the bounce, and did not don the mask to crouch under the bat until two strikes or three balls had been called on the hitter, or until the latter had got on the bases. The rule keeping the catcher up behind the bat at all times was not put into force until 1901.

Lehrman was Westfield's only catcher. There were but 10 men on the club. He had to be in there every day, catching every game, unless injured too severely to permit of his remaining on duty, in which event one of the other players of the club ordinarily playing a different position was pressed into service in his place behind the bat. Dutchy wouldn't trade the old days for the present ones. "We had to take many a bump, but we had a lot of fun," he said. "It's a different game now. The old one for mine."

THEY'RE HAVING A time deciding just who is going to be recognized as the new world middleweight champion, taking over the title relinquished by Mickey Walker. Gorilla Jones, winner of the N. B. A. tournament for the crown, is to meet Marcel Thil in Paris on June 15 in a match that will be advertised as being for the championship. In New York, Jimmy Johnston has matched Vince Dundee with Chick Devlin for a 15-round bout which he will ask the boxing commission of that state to recognize as a title affair. A match between the winners of the two fights might clear up the muddle satisfactorily.

PAULINO UZCUDUN again is ready for the wars and will be the next to try to halt the march of Ernie Schaaf. The Spaniard's cracked rib has mended, and if there is no slip in the arrangements he will tangle with Schaaf for 15 rounds in New York one week from Friday night.

Jack (Kid) Berg was to have appeared in the Madison Square Garden feature bout that night against Sammy Fuller, who recently beat Ray Miller, but Berg has asked for a postponement until April 1.

OF ALL THE crack passers on the Renaissance Negro basketball team, scheduled to meet the Rosenblum Celtics at Motor Square Garden next Tuesday night, Charley Cooper, the giant center, probably is the most generally discussed, because he is said to be the equal of Dutch Dehnert, of the Rosies.

Charley Cooper

Dehnert, while with the original Celtics in New York, was the first to take the pivot play seriously. He saw in it the possibility of revolutionizing the game by taking it away from more or less defensive systems and putting it on a new offensive basis.

FOR A LONG time Dehnert studied and practiced the play, and when finally he got it to the point where he was sure it would be effective he took other members of the Celtics into his confidence, and with the aid of Johnny Beckman and Davey Banks in particular he made it what it is today—the most effective offensive weapon the game has known since the two-hand dribble. Cooper, residing in New York and seeing the Celtics often when he was a mere kid, studied Dehnert's movements and followed his ideas. Now he has the pivot just about down to perfection, and though he does not have a Banks to work with, he has three mighty fine passers in Ricks, Slocum and Jenkins, who enable him to get fine results with the spectacular play.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 9.—The Windsor Bulldogs, International Hockey League champions, will be out to show the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets the error of their ways when the Steel City skaters make their last appearance of the season here tonight.

The Jackets arrived here today with the avowed intention of fighting their way into the league's annual title play-off series. The Bulldogs would have no objections to the Jackets getting in were it not for the fact that if the visitors make the grade the local puckmen are likely to be out. Failure to qualify for defense of their laurels is a rather odious distinction for the champions of any league—a distinction which the Bulldogs propose to avoid.

LAST BIG CHANCE

By winning tonight Pittsburgh will tie Windsor for fourth place in the league standings, but after tonight the Bulldogs will have seven games remaining on their slate, whereas the Jackets will have only five. These two games represent two chances to break the deadlock in Windsor's favor.

A Pittsburgh defeat, on the other hand, will just about leave the Jackets high and dry on the shoals of disappointment. Such an eventuality would leave the Reidmen trailing by two games with five games to play, and a sweep of the five would be meaningless unless Windsor lost at least four decisions.

The Jackets have not won a game here this season. The Bulldogs enjoy a big edge in their season serie with the visitors, and local fans will be both exercised and surprised if it isn't bigger by tomorrow morning.

BISONS IN MONEY

FORT ERIE, Ontario, March 9.—(AP)—The Buffalo Bisons clinched a place in the International Hockey League playoffs by defeating Cleveland, 3 to 1, here last night.

PIRATES TO TRY TO PLAY TODAY

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 9.—Weather interfered for the first time yesterday in the daily routine of the Pittsburgh Pirates, in training here. A chill wind and the complete absence of the highly advertised California sun caused Manager Gibson to change his plans.

The Pirate skipper had planned to stage the fourth of the inter-club games yesterday afternoon. After holding the morning workout, and looking in vain for the sun after the noon meal, Gibson decided to postpone the game.

The Buccos, however, were not granted a day of respite. Gibson took his squad, with few exceptions, for a 10-mile hike over the hills and dales which surround this town.

The Regular-Yanigans' series, which has reached a total of three games to date, all won by the Regulars, will be resumed today, providing the weather man is in full accord with the plan. Gibson is desirous of getting as many games as possible in during the stay here, so that he can get a line on just how the youngsters perform under fire.

Gibson has made a move that has everybody guessing. He has shifted Tony Piet, who has been playing second base, over to the hot corner, and is instructing him in the rudiments of playing that position.

Gibson is not going to take any chances of having his team weakened by the absence of capable subs, and intends to have two men ready at all times for each position on the club. He, however, refused to state his reason for the move.

The Corsairs have only four more days in camp, leaving here Saturday afternoon for Oakland, where they will open the exhibition series, playing a double-header.

GREENS CHIEFS TO DINE

The Tri-State Golf Course Superintendents' Association, composed of district greenkeepers, will hold its annual banquet in the Fort Pitt Hotel, Monday evening. The tickets have been received at headquarters and at Oakmont it was announced today.

PARK GROUPS TO MEET

The Park Friendship and Park Athletic clubs will hold a reunion dinner Friday evening in the Christ Church Parish House.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: GREATEST SAILING RACE IN HISTORY—British tea brokers still discuss the grand and exciting race between the two tea clippers "Ariel" and "Taiping" in 1866. Five boats originally participated in the race. The "Ariel" left the harbor of Foochow on May 30, at 10:30 a. m., and the "Taiping" 20 minutes later. Ninety-nine days later, on September 5, the "Ariel" passed Deal, England, at 8 a. m., while the "Taiping" followed eight minutes later. The distance from Foochow to Deal is 16,000 miles. The premium of 10 shillings per ton was divided between the two contestants, as the "Taiping" contended that she had sailed 20 minutes after her rival, and therefore had beaten her by 12 minutes sailing time. J. F. DONOHUE—The Donohues of Newburgh, N. Y., constitute the greatest family of skaters in the world, having produced three champions. J. F. Donohue, record holder from 30 miles to 100 miles, skated 100 miles in 7 hours 11 minutes 38 1-5 seconds in 4893 at Stamford, Conn. THE GLASS SNAIL—The Carinaire Vitree, or Glass Snail, is an inhabitant of the sea. Its blue body is encased in a conical shell of extraordinary transparency. On account of its great rarity a single specimen on exhibit at the French Musee in Paris in 1911 was valued at 30,000 francs (about $6,000). CHESS CHAMPION IN THREE SITTINGS—Alexandre Louis Honore Deschapelles (1780-1847), president of the French Chess Club and leading player of his time, learned the game in three sittings. According to his own story, he watched Bernard (a famous chess player) for a whole evening, and, after three sittings, reached his full strength as a player. The only man to whom he ever lost a match was W. Lewis. Due to the extraordinary facility with which he mastered this game, he considered the study of Opening Analysis in Chess a waste of time.

CHILLYSAUCE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

With only 10 umpires listed for duty, National League patrons may expect to see diamond fights handled by two officials in the impending campaign. The Pittsburgh club yesterday received the official list of arbiters from President John A. Heydler. The names are sent the various clubs to enable them to include the officials on the scorecards.

The 10 umpires retained for active duty are William J. Klem, Charles Rigler, Ernest Quigley, Charles B. Moran, Charles Pfirman, John E. Reardon, Albert D. Stark, George L. Magerkurth, Charles H. Donnelly and George Barr. The names are listed in their order of seniority.

Klem and Rigler have been running ball games in the parent organization for more than a quarter of a century. Quigley and Moran also have exceptionally long terms of service, the former being one of the leading football and basketball officials of the country.

At their joint meeting in Chicago in December, the major league owners decided to retrench in their umpires as well as in their playing strength. A staff of 10 officials means that the three-man system is abolished in its strict sense, although the modern plan will be in effect in a modified way. When four games are played, two of them will be handled by the three-man system and the other two by the two-man plan.

Among other things, the latest ruling means that Bill Klem will be stationed behind the plate more frequently than he has been in several seasons. Bill is exceptionally good wherever he is placed, but it seems that any contest runs along in a smoother manner when he is in charge.

Diamond gladiators are just as imperfect as other humans, and they are just as fair. By this token you would be interested in the reactions of opposing pitchers just before a crucial series starts. When Sir William walks nonchalantly toward the plate, mask under his arm, you will hear comments of approval. A sample:

Every official in the circuit is just as honest as is Klem, but few have his gift. I remember a contest in which Carmen Hill battled the Cubs. Carmen had a lot of stuff and apparently he was working the corners. However, he lost a hair-line decision to the Bruins. When the battle ended he encountered Klem. And Bill must have felt a little glow when the defeated pitcher remarked:

"Bill, you were great up there today. I wanted to win, but I'm telling you that you did not call one wrong all afternoon."

SAINTS MAY QUIT SPORTS

It is rumored that St. Vincent College will cut all athletics in a drastic program of curtailment at a meeting of its athletic council at Beatty, Pa., today. Whether or not the program will be pared to little in the way of competition, or is to be cut only enough to keep up with the depression, will be learned after the confab, originally scheduled for last night. Some rumors have had the abandonment of the 1932 football card; others have said that scholarships only are to be placed in the discard.

Clem Crowe, St. Vincent grid tutor, who resigned to go to St. Xavier College, in Cincinnati, has no less than 39 coaches fighting for his recent post, including three well-known Notre Dame graduates. Among those aspiring to the job, if it still is a job this fall, are:

Dana Edwards, former assistant under Chick Harry (Maud) Crum, last year grid coach at Allegheny College; Charles O. Bachus, head grid and head coach at Thiel, retired for personal reasons at that college, former major league baseball catcher; Dana Stringer, last year's head mentor at St. Francis and Bob Donnelly, freshman coach at Duquesne University.

If the St. Vincent athletic council decides upon a further retrenchment policy, it will be falling in line with similar action taken by Allegheny College and other schools throughout the country. St. Francis College recently declared a one-year moratorium in all intercollegiate competition. Wash.-Jeff has abolished athletic scholarships.

One of the largest crowds to see a W. P. I. A. L. basketball elimination game is expected at the Pitt Stadium pavilion tonight when Charleroi, champion of Section V, meets Swissvale High School, champion of Section XI, in a second round contest.

Charleroi, one of the strongest teams in the W. P. I. A. L. and among the favorites to win the league championship, enters tonight's contest picked to eliminate Ed Paulie's Swissvale combine despite the fact that Swissvale vanquished East Pittsburgh in a first-round battle.

Those who have seen the Stepanian charges in action rate them the best entered in this year's tournament and close followers of the sport are picking them to land in the finals.

Swissvale did not appear too impressive in its victory over East Pittsburgh, champion of Section XVII, and will have to show a decided improvement if it hopes to have a chance against its Monongahela Valley opponent.

Charleroi hails from one of the strongest sections in the league, among its members being such well-known quintets as Monessen, South Brownsville, Monongahela, Donora and California. Charleroi's record includes two victories over Monessen, last year's sectional champion.

The records of the two contesting teams are about equal, Charleroi winning 15 out of 19 games, while Swissvale won 14 out of 19.

The Stepanian quintet will be accompanied by a large body of rabid supporters, as Charleroi is one of the hotbeds of scholastic basketball. The records of the two teams follow:

GENEVA AGAIN BEATS CARNEGIE

AULTMAN STARS AS TECH FIVE IS CHECKED

GAMES TONIGHT

Bethany at Fairmont.
Waynesburg at Allegheny.

By JESS CARVER
Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., March 9.—Three of Geneva College's celebrated sons closed their basketball careers here last night and Mister Cliff Aultman closed the six-game winning streak of Carnegie Tech, whizzing eight baskets through the net to lead the Covenanters to a 35-27 triumph.

The contest, which closed the season for Geneva, gave the locals a record of 17 wins against six defeats, two triumphs over Carnegie and one over Duquesne.

AULTMAN STARS

Tech had been hitting on all cylinders up until last night, had taken Allegheny, West Virginia, Princeton, Georgetown, Temple and the Haughty Dukes in a row. Then they struck Aultman when Cliff was having a decidedly "on" night.

The Tartans were handicapped by the absence of Lou Jagnow, star forward, who is hors de combat with a bum knee. Lou is hobbling about with the aid of a cane and likely is through for the season.

Only two of the three Covenanters who turned in their uniforms for good after last night's engagement saw service. Lindsay Montgomery and Slim Ransom, a fine pair of lads, took part in the battle. The third, Kent Sole, who has been on the bench with a knee injury all season, was in uniform, but confined his activity to practice shots between halves and before the game.

GAME CLOSE AT HALF

The lead changed hands six times before the Covenantors jogged out in front. Art Grahame dumped in a foul to make the count read 14-11 Geneva at the half.

Smith, Fergus and Leonard each had three baskets for Carnegie.

Swim Stars Splash With Seals Tonight

MISS MAE CUTNELL

The honor of being the first woman guest artist to appear on the weekly Sports Quiz program of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph goes to Miss Mae Cutnell, of Whitaker who with Pat Corr, Pitt coach, will headline tonight's session over WCAE at 7 o'clock.

Miss Cutnell, leading local contender for an Olympic Games swimming team berth, will be interviewed by Ben Bricht, veteran coach and sponsor of swimmers. Corr will give a talk on competitive swimming as a joint feature of the program, and Bricht, in turn, will be quizzed on swimming matters by Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who will act as master of ceremonies.

Corr will come to the studio direct from the Tech gym pool, in which his varsity team will compete with Carnegie Tech for the local and Eastern States collegiate swimming titles this afternoon, while Miss Cutnell, upon the finish of the broadcast, will hasten to the Keystone A. C., to compete in the Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. championship meet, in which all of the stars of the district are entered.

GUNDELFINGER PLAYS

OSMOND BEACH, Fla., March 9.—(AP.)—Gundelfinger, of Pittsburgh, is playing his first round match for the Vickers golf championship over the Osmond Beach golf course today. He is opposing Mr. Cooke, of New York, in the 1924 champion. Gundelfinger won with a card of 41 (1, 42). Cooke, of Lake Placid, had 43 and the hole by two strokes with 39-37—76.

LOCAL STARS HONORED

Carl Stewart, Benny Stein, Walter Cummins, Elmer Kiser, Lute Boone, Leroy Hughes, Bill Fuchs, Charles Dubois and Al Nelson, local capital stars, were guests at a dinner held yesterday in the William Penn hotel in honor of Coach Bill Carnevale. The local aggregation took part in a basketball game in Cleveland last summer.

PANTHER TEAM WIN, LOSE AT MORGANTOWN

Pitt got away to a slow start, but managed to tie the game at 9-9 before the whistle ended the first half.

Doyle, brilliant West Virginia forward, was the high scorer, with 11 points. W. Kowallis, Pitt forward, headed the visitors with seven.

West Virginia's mitt team gained revenge for an earlier defeat at the hands of Coach Joe Orsini's Pitt glove artists with a 5-2 victory in the windup of a gala sports carnival with Panther rivals.

TRI-STATE PIN TOURNEY OPENS

Rolling will begin at 2 p. m. today in the annual Tri-state tenpin tournament, on the Iroquois Alleys, 6282 Broad street, East End. Many of the local stars will compete to practice up for the A. B. C. tournament in Detroit, which got under way yesterday.

The Tri-state tournament will be concluded Saturday night, according to the schedule drawn.

Altoona Refuses To Play Lewistown

ALTOONA, Pa., March 9.—(AP.)—A row, threatened for days, came to a climax in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association last night when Altoona refused to meet Lewistown's basketball title entry.

Altoona authorities announced their team was to meet Sandy Township, of Clearfield County, tonight at Indiana, Pa., in the District No. 6 eliminations.

The district committee, however, ruled Sandy Township out of the tourney because some regular season games were played in District No. 9. Altoona then was ordered to meet Lewistown at Indiana instead.

Canada May Be Out of Olympics

LOS ANGELES, March 9.—Canada has learned unofficially that the Dominion may be debarred from the tenth Olympiad in Los Angeles next summer.

It has come to the attention of Canadian authorities that Count Baillet-Latour, president of the international Olimpic committee, has threatened to report P. J. Mulqueen, president of the Canadian Olympic committee, to the international committee for his stand in connection with the disputes over the 10,000 meters skating race at Lake Placid.

Fight Results

BUD M'ARTHUR WINS

SAGINAW, Mich., March 9.—Bud McArthur, Saginaw light-heavyweight, today has every reason to believe he is the best middleweight boxer in the state of West Virginia, following his victory over Jimmy Lewis, of Fairmont, West Virginia, here last night. McArthur, who has been boxing as a professional for less than two years, scored a technical knockout over Lewis in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Lewis was floored for the count of nine by a right to the head and was dropped by the referee.

RING MOGULS RENAMED

NEW YORK, March 9.—(INS.)—Jacob A. Farley and William Muldoon have been reappointed to the New York State Athletic Commission for three-year terms, it was announced today. Farley, who is in the 1924 Democratic convention with a card of 41 (1, 42). Cooke, of Lake Placid, had 43 and the hole by two strokes with 39-37—76.

The OLYMPIC GAMES

By Lawson Robertson

Lawson Robertson—Head Coach American Olympic Teams

CHAPTER VI.

Economic conditions prevailing throughout the world made it seem, for a time, that the number of foreigners contesting in the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles would be appreciably reduced. However, since steps were taken to cut the cost of transportation, housing and feeding to the absolute minimum, it is hoped that most of the major nations will send their original quotas.

At the outset, it was estimated that the average outlay for bringing each athlete from Europe, taking care of him in Los Angeles and returning him to his native heath would be around $1,500.

The money to defray Olympic Games expenses comes from donations—at least the major portion of it. Because of the shrinkage in the fortunes of many patrons of the Olympic Games in Europe, the pledges fell 50 per cent below what was anticipated—and needed.

COSTS REDUCED

When the emergency presented itself, the officials in Europe and the U. S. A. went into conferences with steamship and railroad executives. As a result, the transportation prices were so greatly reduced that the outlay per contestant will not be much in excess of $500.

To make things still easier for the foreign delegations, the cost of housing and feeding all foreign athletes in the Olympic Village in Los Angeles has been cut to so ridiculously low a figure that a fair sized squad can be maintained for a few hundred dollars for the duration of the games.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

The earlier pessimism when certain nations were on the point of declining to participate, because of lack of sufficient funds, while others intended reducing the size of their squads for the same reason, is gone. Most of them now have funds in hand, or pledged, to enable them to ship over a team in keeping with their original ideas.

NATATORS SEEK A. A. U. TITLES

The star swimmers and divers of the district will compete in the Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. swimming championship meet in the pool of the Keystone A. C. tonight.

The association championships in the 50-yard free style for both men and women and the low board diving championship for men feature the program.

Other sports events scheduled tonight in Pittsburgh include an indoor field meet at the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, in which amateur athletes will compete in the standing broad jump, standing hop, step and jump and running high jump, and a basketball game for the benefit of the Sixteenth Ward Relief Association between the Goldenson Vanities and the Leavittsburg (O.) girls' teams, two of the best in these parts.

Pitt Boxers Meet Tartans at Tech

The Pitt-Tech boxing matches, originally scheduled for the Tech gym Saturday night, and last week shifted to the Pitt Stadium, have been restored to the Skibo ring. Graduate Manager Buddy Overend, of Tech, announced yesterday that Tech would stage the bouts after all, due to the fact that plans had been made for a dance to be held in connection with the bouts.

Pitt meets Penn State in basketball Saturday, and the first shift of the bouts was arranged so that fans would be able to witness both the court and ring battles.

Armour-Dudley Play Burke-Golden Today

MIAMI, Fla., March 9.—(AP.)—Tommy Armour, British open champion, and Ed Dudley, Concordville, Pa., advanced to final of the $5,000 international four-ball golf tournament yesterday by overwhelming Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, 3 and 2.

Armour and Dudley will meet Billy Burke, national open champion, and Johnny Golden, Norton, Conn., in the 36-hole final today. Burke and Golden defeated Harry Hampton, Chicago, and Neil McIntyre, Indianapolis, 2 and 1.

Sport Tales

Bunny has encountered difficulty remembering which of the Clementses is which, and why, so he has decided to rename them. Henceforth Leo will be known as Jack, Lloyd will remain Lloyd and Gerald will become Jerry.

ELKS HONOR PITTITES

Captain-elect Paul Reese, Jim Mac Murdo and Jim Collins, football stars, and Captains Lou Kovalcik and Tom Lacey, and Tom Smith, basketball stars at Pitt, will be guests of honor at a banquet of the Carnegie Elks Thursday night of next week.

SCHENLEY FIVE EVENS SERIES

Schenley High forced the post-season series for the City League championship into a deadlock and Braddock advanced to the quarter-finals of the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations as a result of victories scored yesterday in the Pitt Stadium pavilion.

Schenley, champion of Section I, flashed the same consistent form that marked its work in the last three periods of the first encounter with Allegheny, Section II champion, and had no trouble piling up a 31-9 score on the North Siders.

Schenley's victory forces the City League series into a third game, which will be played in the Pitt Stadium pavilion Friday afternoon, while Braddock's triumph qualifies it to meet New Castle, Section III champion, in the same hall on March 15.

Aside from flashing a brilliant attack in the first period of the first contest, Allegheny, favorite to win the City League title, has been outclassed by Schenley. The North Siders piled up a 14-1 lead on Schenley in the opening period of the first game and in the seven quarters that followed have counted only 17 markers. As a result Schenley now is a prohibitive favorite to win the title.

BRADDOCK WINS EASILY

Braddock, making its tenth appearance in 14 years in the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations, experienced little or no difficulty in vanquishing Uniontown, champion of Section X. The Section VIII champion won by a score of 31-18, one of the worst defeats ever handed a team coached by A. J. Everhart.

Bowlers Resume A. B. C. Tourney

DETROIT, March 9.—(AP.)—Detroit "Booster" teams will swing into action again in the thirty-second annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress tourney tonight. The local fives will compete for special prizes, while helping to break in the 32 new tournament alleys.

The big pin classic was formally opened last night by Civic and A. B. C. bowling officials amid a colorful setting. This year's layout is easily one of the finest in national tourney history. The local bowlers, however, made no remarkable scores.

More than 12,000 bowlers from 260 cities will participate in the bowlers' world series before the windup April 11.

Baseball Notes

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 9.—(AP.)—A team of Detroit Tigers, mostly recruits, smothered out a 13-0 victory over the Seals of the Pacific Coast League yesterday in the opening game of the Tigers' spring training schedule. The score by innings:

| | R | H | E |

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9.—(AP.)—The Yankees outhugged the Reds, 11-7, in the New York Yankees' practice game yesterday as the strong Highlanders, Johnny Allen, turned in another impressive performance.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 9.—(AP.)—John Frooie, Wade and Murray Howell hung over the centerfield fence in the Brooklyn Dodgers' intra-club game yesterday, which was cut to six innings because of rain. Frooie, who has been in his middle forties for a number of years, got a single and a double in three times up and Howell got a single and a home run. Howell got another circuit clout from Dartmouth collegian four-bagger in a frame. The Scrubs beat the Regulars, 10-3.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 9.—(AP.)—Seventy strapped on the Phillies' camp when it was learned that Harvey Fisher, last of the baldest brigade, had signed on and Dick Bartell, shortstop Mack was on his way southward.

MADISON, Wis., March 9.—(AP.)—Bobby Poser, basketball star and baseball pitcher at the University of Wisconsin, has signed a contract with the Chicago White Sox.

VOLKWEIN ELECTED

Edward Volkwein, of Dormont, has been elected captain of the swimming team at Villanova University, Hamilton, O., for the 1931 season. Volkwein also is football captain for the coming fall. He has been swimming for years and during the summer serves as life guard at the Dormont Pool in Dormont. The Villanova swimming team this season lost only one meet, a close affair to Army.

BATES WINS, LOSES

Morris A. Bates, national singles champion, was defeated by Wilmer Allison, Texas, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, in the second round of the Southern California tennis championships at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. yesterday.

BUTCH BATTLES WILSON AT MOOSE

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Mose Butch vs. Jackie Wilson, 10 rounds, and Carl Montebano vs. Lee Sala, Walter Ketchel vs. Lloyd Clements and Sammy Asto vs. Bobby Rowe, 6 rounds each, Moose Temple.

Finals of Golden Gloves tournament, Stadium, Chicago.

Benny Bass vs. Wesley Ramey, Le Roy Dougan vs. Woodrow Williams and Buck Jammon vs. Al Stillman, 10 rounds each, and Allen Matthews vs. Kid Kaiser, 8 rounds, St. Louis.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Mose Butch and Jackie Wilson, local bantamweight rivals, meet again in the 10-round main bout in the Moose Temple tonight. The show is the first to be promoted there by Jules Beck, matchmaker of Motor Square Garden.

Mose Butch

Butch is more or less established as a leader in his class around here, while young Jackie has been coming along rapidly recently with the development of a straight right hand punch to go along with his fast moving and clever boxing.

Carl Montebano, Braddock middleweight, and Lee Sala, of Donora, are in the semi-final. Lloyd Clements and Walter Ketchel, local light-heavies, in the second bout, and Sammy Asto, of Uniontown, and Bobby Rowe, of the East End, in the opener.

Between Rounds

John R. Elliott is the president of the new boxing commission in Youngstown, where three eight-round bouts will support the Jack Dempsey-George Panza exhibition next Monday night, as follows: Angelo Vergiotte vs. Lou Bloom, Harold Harter vs. Jack O'Neill and Jimmy Moore vs. Lynn Jordan.

Unable to line up a card, Jim McGirr, Mckeesport promoter is inactive this week, but is already forging ahead to two bouts on March 17 and 21, when he will stage his diamond amateur tournament. He already has received a dozen of entries.

The sudden cold snap cut in heavily on the attendance at the Soldier Fladers' Jimmy Thomas and Battling Gizzy-Eddie Loyd double wrestling unit at Motor Square Garden last Monday night, the receipts being only around $3,100. Many out-of-town orders for tickets were canceled because of the bad driving conditions. The show figured to draw at least $5,000.

The cancellation of the Billy Petrolle-Battling Battalino show in New York's Madison Square Garden set for Friday night, changes the bulking of the bill that Tex Rickard built. The bout is tentatively set here to March 22. Lou Brouillard and Eddie Rau are on top Friday night of next week, and Jack (Kid) Berg and Sammy Fuller will box there April 1.

The Garden will be given over to a circus during the remainder of April. Eddie Rau will sub against Battalino Friday night.

Local Jewish sports followers are interested in the appearance of Henry Ginsberg on the wrestling card at Motor Square Garden tomorrow night headed by a finish match between Frank Speers and Floyd Marshall. Ginsberg is paired with Hans Kampfer, the Slight-tinged German, who has been a sensation in the major wrestling cities. Five bouts in all are listed.

Bernard Katz, Jr., of McKeesport, who is the matchmaker for boxing clubs in Fairmont, Clarksburg and Morgantown, W. Va., has two lockers on the card at the Keystone Arena, Friday night, and they include the top spots. He has Benny Mc-Arthur, the lightweight against Chalky Baxter, in the 10-round windup and Paul Oper, of Wheeling, against Davy Grove, of the North Side, in the eight-round semi-final. Promoter Eddie Kaufman reports unusual interest in the show at the reduced prices of 50 cents and $1 and looks for a jammed arena.

The card is complete for the Benny Bass-Frankie Bojarski show at the Garden next Monday night with the exception of the semi-final. Jack (formerly Leo) Clements, brother Charley Broad, McKeesport heavyweight in the second bout, and Pete Sandor, of Uniontown, is paired with Max Elling, of the Hill, in the opener.

Jack Gibbons, son of Mike, the Phantom, will make his public boxing debut in a Golden Gloves tournament in Minneapolis tomorrow night. The youngster, 6 feet tall and scaling 131 pounds, is a student at Detroit University.

Forbes

Owner of Taxi Sure Bigness Is Handicap

By B. C. FORBES

"Yep; I own this cab."

"Do you manage to make living?" I asked the taxi-driver.

Mr. Forbes

"Business has been rotten. I haven't been able to give my wife much more than $15 a week for months."

"Can she make ends meet on that?"

"She has to. What we can't buy, we do without. It's tough, all right."

"How long do you think you—and she—can stand it? Do you think you can stick until better times come?"

"I figure I can stand it better and longer than the big companies. One of them has five garages and a warehouse chock full of cabs. They are all losing money."

"So you feel you can survive?"

"Yep. Every day the big companies are laying up cabs. Their expenses are terrible. Their drivers—hired men—don't care what happens to their cabs. You bet I see that nothing happens to this cab. Nobody needs to worry when he uses an owned cab."

"I'm glad to know you're not discouraged."

"Get me right, buddy. It's tough going. I can stand it because I have only myself and the old woman to look after. I don't mind working 12 hours a day—15, if there's anything doing.

"The big companies can't cut their expenses as keen as I can. They have big salaries and big rents and all kinds of expenses I don't have. I can last longer than most of them. As it is, cabs are being taken off the streets every week."

IS THERE NOT deep significance in this taxi driver's conversation? Have events not proved that gigantic corporations have encountered tremendous difficulty in cutting down their overhead and other expenses to meet the terrific shrinkage in business?

Do you yourself not know of some smaller businesses that are managing to struggle along not so badly? Does it not seem as if "independents," one-man concerns or firms or companies of modest size, have been able to adjust themselves to hard times better than huge organizations?

Certain it is that many colossal corporations are losing millions. The losses suffered by some of the country's enormous banking institutions have been appalling. The newspapers report that certain huge chain-store and mail-order companies have been compelled to close stores right and left.

The United States Steel Corporation, the biggest of them all, has fared worse than some of the smaller steel companies. In the public utility field, according to report, among the very worst sufferers have been the most ambitious leaders.

ONE SUCH utility leader when I submitted to him an extremely bitter letter received from a stockholder, replied:

"The answer is that I have never sold a share of the stock, and that simple arithmetic will show that I certainly have been the heaviest loser by whatever mistakes or misfortunes have befallen."

DOES THE taxi driver's talk and experience suggest that? Perhaps after all, there is no limit to profitable expansion by any one corporation—not enjoying a monopoly? Said one executive to me the other day:

"Before our business blossomed into a monster in size, we could take an idea or a proposition to the boss and get a prompt decision. Now everything has to be submitted to a committee. And if there is anything that can kill initiative and enterprise, and entail fatal delays, it is a committee.

MAY IT NOT be that, out of all our present grievous afflictions, some wholesome, lasting good will come?

(Copyright, 1932, B. C. Forbes.)

UPTURN NOTED IN STEEL

NEW YORK, March 9.—Iron Age tomorrow will say: Despite the continued absence of important tonnage from the three major steel-consuming groups—the automobile industry, the railroads and building construction—steel business is a shade better this week because of slightly expanding releases from miscellaneous consumers, and the average ingot operating rate for the country has risen one point, to 27 per cent of capacity.

Strengthening of the steel price structure has become a definitely constructive influence, which will be more strongly in evidence at the end

Attempts Are Interesting Challenge to Oriental Fatalism in Economics

By MERRYLE RUCKEYSER
Universal Service

NEW YORK, March 9.—New and gallant efforts have been made recently to regiment constructive forces against economical chaos.

This constitutes an interesting challenge to the doctrine of oriental fatalism in economics. In so far as it involves governmental participation it entails a broadening theory of the function of government. It is in defiance of the Jeffersonian doctrine that that government is best which governs least. The federal government is paying a large price for its reconstruction program. In order to justify the outlays, it behooves the leaders to make sure that the interference with the business cycle is successful in bringing about recovery.

Mr. Ruckeyser

SIMULTANEOUS FIGHT

To succeed in pegging security prices for a time without bringing an upturn in business volume and profits to justify better prices would be only to postpone a new wave of pessimism and disappointment. It behooves those who are seeking to shape the course of business through the application of human intelligence to follow through and do all that is necessary to make the program a success. This entails fighting the depression simultaneously on all fronts.

It does not mean being content with financing financiers and big corporations alone through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but also aiding the unemployed through an accelerated public works program. It might also link up with governmental activity a program of rehabilitation engineered by private interests. The united drive against the depression, sponsored by the American Legion, the American Federation of Labor and the Association of National Advertisers, gives a suggestion of what can ultimately be accomplished by intelligent co-operation. Already according to Carl Byoir, director of organization, 170,000 jobless men have been returned to payrolls through the campaign to get employers to add another man to their list of employes.

BETTER PSYCHOLOGY

This latter campaign has enrolled better psychology than the drives for relief funds. The united drive promotes buying power by giving the public the spectacle of good news in the form of men returning to employment, whereas the charity drives emphasize bad news and frighten the painfully employed, inducing them to spend less than they can afford.

If the forces of dissolution and chaos are to be routed, it is essential to co-ordinate all remedial measures, and to make certain that one gesture does not offset another. There should be industrial planning and economic co-ordination through all stages of the business cycle. The doctrine of rugged individualism represents an attempt to employ yesterday's ideas for the solution of tomorrow's problems.

General Level Is Barely Changed From Previous Close; Food Shares Up

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP.)—The stock market had apparently dropped anchor pending lifting of the fog of uncertainty obscuring the business outlook, today, but Wall street remained fairly cheerful as bonds continued to push ahead.

The share market sagged a little in the morning trading, but selling soon dried up, and traces of bullish activity appeared in some of the food shares. By early afternoon the general level was barely changed from the previous session's close.

Radio and American and Foreign Power were under considerable pressure for a time, both sagging about a point. American Telephone and Consolidated Gas also yielded moderately. In the first half hour some effort was made to bid up the rails and for a time there were numerous gains of a point or so in that group. United States Steel fluctuated in a narrow range. Some of the packing company issues, notably the Armour and Wilson preferred issues, gained 2 to 3 points. Beatrice Creamery rose more than a point. Some buying developed in Stone & Webster. Oils failed in the main to continue their upswing of the previous day, but the Tidewater-Associated issues were firm.

The midweek business statistics failed to provide speculators for the rise with any new leverage. The steel reviews were only slightly more cheerful. Iron Age reported ingot output at 27 per cent of capacity, up a point. This publication also reported a slight gain in its composite price for finished steel. Buying by the Ford Motor Company, thus far, was said to have been negligible, but rumors in automobile circles today had it that the company would start active production of its new 8-cylinder model within a week. Total automobile output for March is now being estimated at around 150,000 units, as against about 118,000 in February.

The weekly petroleum figures showed the small decline of 192,000 barrels in stocks of gasoline in storage, which, small as it was, represented the first reduction in several weeks.

Electric power production figures showed a decline of 8.7 per cent from last year, the least favorable comparison yet shown in this tabulation. Freight car loadings declined somewhat more than seasonally.

WHEAT STARTS LOWER, GAINS

CHICAGO, March 9. — Grain prices advanced today after a wavering start. Relative strength of corn was a feature, with reports prevalent that export business in corn had taken place. Opening unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, wheat afterward scored a general upturn. Corn started unchanged to ⅜ cent higher and subsequently rose all around.

Speculative buying both of corn and wheat resulted from word that 120,000 bushels of No. 2 corn had been taken for shipment from the United States to Great Britain. This was the first corn export business which had been done in months. Export bids for additional quantities of corn at 1½ cents under the market were noted. Fairly good overnight export business in wheat was likewise announced, with some foreign purchasing of rye.

Contributing to bullish sentiment were official advices that snow covering in various sections of domestic winter wheat territory was scanty, and that in various places the ground was bare.

LISTENING IN

With the Radio Editor

With Edwin Arthur Kraft at the console, music from the largest organ of its type in the world comes to WCAE listeners in a four-day series of concerts starting this afternoon.

Mr. Kraft

The programs, to be continued tomorrow, Friday and Saturday from 12:30 to 1 p. m., originate in the new auditorium and service building of the H. J. Heinz Company and are carried by a loud speaker system to the employes' dining room after being relayed to WCAE. The huge organ is equipped with a harp, piano, drums and countless other "voices." Mr. Kraft, one of the most outstanding musicians in the country, is a fellow of the American Guild of Organists and organist of Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland. Miss Josephine B. Gibson, of the Heinz Company, announcing the program, is one of the few women heard on the air in that capacity.

How do you get all the news? How does it appear in print so quickly?

These are only two of the questions answered by Robert M. Chilton, assistant city editor of the Sun-Telegraph, when he is interviewed by David S. Patterson on KQV at 7:45 tonight. Mr. Chilton, whose topic is "Speeding the News to the Public," takes listeners behind the scenes in the Sun-Telegraph office. The questions and answers reveal the Sun-Telegraph staff in action, from the moment a story first "breaks."

The world of radio joins his fellow artists tonight in solemn tribute to John Philip Sousa. Directing the band the late "March King" was to have led tonight himself. Arthur Pryor presents on WCAE at 8:30 a program consisting of a musical history of Sousa's own compositions. Deems Taylor, critic and composer, is to speak. On KQV at 5 this afternoon, Count John K. Chapel, in his "Twilight Reveries" program, gives a resume of the bandmaster's career and describes the inspiration of his most popular marches.

It was only in recent years that Sousa consented to go before the microphone. In his recent book, "Marching Along," Sousa expressed the wish to die while at his work. He died as he desired—a few minutes after leading the Ringgold Band at Reading, Pa., in celebration of the band's eighteenth birthday.

Program Pointers

THE PICKENS SISTERS, of Georgia, are heard for the first time on KDKA at 10:45. The three girls—Jane, Helen and Marla—are said to simulate with remarkable tonal accuracy the sounds of banjo, Hawaiian guitar, violin and even the jewsharp. Their musical background is distinctly of the old South, and they have been harmonizing together since Marla was 4, Helen 6, and Jane 8. That was 17 years ago.

Duchess Armand de Richelieu, of New York and Washington society, and well-known prima donna, is interviewed on WJAS at 8. As Elinor Douglas, the Duchess gives her first concert in five years tomorrow night.

Helen Keil directs the Glee Club of the Pennsylvania College for women on KDKA at 3:30 . . . Miriam Young, Violet Sekey, Betty Graham and Gertrude Ray comprise the quartet . . . Weber and Walker's Orchestra return to KQV today . . . Ben Alley is on WJAS twice today, with Ann Leaf at 3:15 and with Freddie Rich at 10 . . .

Miss Keil

Keene Fitzpatrick, Princeton trainer, tells Grantland Rice how to keep in condition on WCAE at 10 . . . Doctor Watson has another Sherlock Holmes thriller on KDKA at 9.

Fan Fare

Don Bigelow, CBS maestro, got his first radio experience in Pittsburgh. . . . He played with the Blue Crusaders, jazz orchestra of the Arnold School, his alma mater. . . . Parker Fennelly was a soda-jerker in Boston. . . . And Arthur Allen, the other half of the Stebbins Boys, was a church organist. . . . Little Jack Little wears blue shirts, likes pinochle and golf and sometimes wears a hat. . . . And incidentally, many listeners are noting the similarity to Little Jack Little in the "Pianoisms" of Add Brickell, on KQV at 7:30 tonight. . . . Cheerio celebrates his fifth anniversary on the air Monday.

Arthur Anderson, Pittsburgh-trained basso, who sings one of the principal roles in "Sadko," Rimsky-Korsakov's opera, on WCAE Saturday, will be guest artist at the first annual concert of the Pittsburgh Madrigal Singers at Carnegie Music Hall March 17.

Pittsburgh gets something new in the way of election returns Sunday when results of the voting for president in Germany are given in international broadcasts on WCAE and WJAS.

Flavelle Mackay, who is Mrs. Effie Watts in "Real Folks," started out to be an opera star . . . Sylvia Froos is a stage veteran at 17 . . . The Weigle Sisters, on WWSW, are waiting to hear from NBC and CBS . . . Kate Smith goes to Chicago Friday but is taking no chances . . . Gene Broderick, Madison Square Garden "bouncer," is going along as her bodyguard.

Question Box

What is the theme song of the KDKA "Home Forum"?—Mrs. J. C. L., Dormont.

Studio Static

Vaughn de Leath, like Kate Smith, is fat and proud of it. In fact, her favorite story has to do with the time she was out huntinz and had to flag an express train at a small Connecticut station to get back to New York in time for a broadcast. When she telephoned the station agent he told her he could stop the train only for a crowd. Vaughn explained he could go right ahead. When she arrived in solitary splendor the agent grew resentful, but as she boarded the train Vaughn called out:

"I didn't lie to you. I told you a large party would board the train. . . . Well, here I am."

Alimony Dodger Seized at Funeral

CHICAGO.—Alimony row at the county jail got four additions recently. Seized on an attachment as his father was being buried at a cemetery, Frank Rogowski, Jr., was sent to jail for three months by Judge Daniel Trude for being in arrears $2,450 to his divorced wife, Gertrude, 3236 Wrightwood avenue.

Firemen Have No Calls, Lose Money

BIG RAPIDS, Mich. (AP.)—The fire department here is in the red—and that doesn't mean the color of the equipment. The city is having so few fires that the volunteer firemen, who are paid only for runs they make to fires, are unable to get enough out of it to pay for the telephones they are required to install.

Biologist Urges Early Marriages

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(AP.)—Marry early and stay married, is the advice to young people given by Dr. W. A. Whiting, Birmingham-Southern College biology professor.

Bad Luck Continues to Follow Lily Lou and She Loses Her Position

CHAPTER XXX.

"And I hope you won't feel there's anything personal about it," Wanda Pillsbury finished, brushing the frowsy hair up from the nape of her neck, and looking absent-minded, as she always did when she asked something unreasonable of Lily Lou.

"Exactly. I've simply got to have somebody I can depend on. It's real hard work, and I've got to have somebody that can stand it. I'd do anything for you, but I can't keep you when it interferes with bread and butter. I can't send classes home, or let them go home and tell their families that Wanda Pillsbury uses phonograph records in her class. It just won't do.

"So when Walt Dingle happened along yesterday after you passed out, and wanted the job back, why I thought it was a plain act of providence. Besides, Walt needs the dough. So I said okeh, and I knew you'd understand, and know it wasn't anything personal, Lansing. It's just as I thought right along, you're too much of an artist for this job anyway—"

Lily Lou suppressed a smile. She'd heard that before. People turn you down if you are "too good" just the way they do when you aren't good enough. What was the use of talking? Wanda had her old accompanist back—the one she had fought with on and off for years. And that was that.

LAST JOB FOR WANDA

"Well, I'll get along," she said. "You know where to get me if you want me to substitute, or do any extra work—"

Wanda was rummaging in a huge, amber topped tapestry bag. She drew out a crumpled $20 bill. "There," she said, "that's really till the end of the week, but we'll call it okeh because Walt is coming this afternoon. But you stay this morning, and just sort out my bills for me, will you, honey child? Put the 'please remit' ones in a pile, and just chuck out the new itemized ones, and if you can find my bank statement you might check that up for me, will you?"

Lily Lou promised. She sat down at the desk and went at it systematically.

Wanda slipped into a fur coat and went out, the tapestry bag over her arm. With Wanda gone the work progressed rapidly. At 11 o'clock she had finished. There was nothing more to do.

She looked around her with a dumb wonder. She wouldn't be here any more. No more hammering of Wanda's out of tune piano. No more running erranda. No more brushing Wanda's woolly hair. This, too, was ended.

DECIDES ON SECRECY

She thought of herself, a girl not yet 21, alone in New York, out of a job, almost penniless, going to have a baby. Funny that it should be she, Lily Lou Lansing. Things like that don't happen to you. They happen to people you read about in papers and books . . . But this was she, all right.

Pretty soon everyone would know. Her mother. The church ladies in Woodlake. The men in Rufe Fletcher's store, coming in for a lemon soda or a package of smoking tobacco, and lingering to make some joke about Jack Lansing's girl. Mrs. Fletcher, the old gossip. "Well, have you heard the news . . ."

But why tell them? They wouldn't know if sh didn't tell them. Why tell anyone, since she wasn't going to tell Ken? She wouldn't tell him, she'd made up her mind to that. Made it up last night, while she knelt by her bed thinking up reasons why it was practically her duty to call him. But thank goodness she had too much pride for that.

Too much pride . . . Lily Lou's mouth tightened. She touched her slim body with her hands. She didn't want pity. She didn't want Peggy Sage's man. Let her have him, if she wanted him that bad. What did she care? She'd manage all right. No one need know. She'd get along. She wasn't beaten yet. She told Ken's father that she could look out for herself, and she could. She'd succeed in spite of everything. Save money. Send Ken's father back his money, show him and Ken . . . Ken . . .

CALLS ON GWIN

For just a moment she forgot to be brave. She thought of the way it might have been. She and Ken together. Happy. It would have been nice to have told Ken, he'd have been so proud . . . dear, funny Ken. He'd have taken her in his arms, and loved her and they'd have planned things for the baby. Its little clothes. And a name for it . . . if were a girl. If it were a boy it would be Kentfield Carey, of course.

There was nothing more to do for Wanda Pillsbury. She'd go to Dwight Gwin's studio and pay him that three dollars for the doctor, and then she'd make the rounds of the employment agencies.

Her feet lagged. It was not easy to face Gwin again, but it had to be done.

"Come in!"

REPAYS DEBT

Gwin's fingers continued to run over the keys, coaxing a queer, haunting little melody. He didn't even look up.

"It's just I. I stopped to leave you the money."

"Thank you. You can leave it right there on the table."

She took a last look at his big, dim studio. She had always been interested in Gwin's studio. It looked, she thought, the way an old Italian palace must look. It seemed rather a shame to be going away, where she'd never see it again.

"Do you mind if I look around a little?" she surprised herself by asking. "I've always wanted to—"

"No, indeed. Look all you like. All the things came from Italy, you know. I brought them myself, at different times."

She looked at an immense shrine carved from wood, covered with goldleaf. "That, too? All those heavy things?"

"Oh, yes—they're shipped slow freight, you know."

"Oh." She stood, a little awkwardly. There was no further excuse for staying, nothing more to say. "Goodbye," she said, "perhaps some day I'll come back and study with you."

LOSES SELF-CONTROL

He smiled. "Oh, I'll see you sometimes.

"No, I'm going. I've left Miss Pillsbury, or rather, she left me. She has her old accompanist back."

He stopped playing. "Did you enjoy your work with her?" he asked earnestly.

"Enjoy it!" she burst out in sudden vehemance. "I loathed it. Tum, tum, tum, tum, tum, tum—I HATED it! What do I care for playing for a dancing school? It's a singer I am!"

She was aghast at what she had said. He'd think . . . he'd think she was trying to interest him. She laughed, a little weakly. "I shouldn't have said that. It was a job anyway—I hated to lose it!"

He came a little closer. "You're out of work?"

She edged toward the door. Nervous. Hating her own nervousness. "Didn't I say Miss Pillsbury fired me?"

His flexible voice was so tender, so full of gentle pity that she thought she couldn't bear it. Why in the world did she come back here, to lay herself open to that? She struggled for poise, for some laughing cynical thing to say. And instead, to her horror, she began to cry.

Synopsis

Lily Lou Lansing, young and pretty telephone operator, gives up her opportunity for an operatic career to marry wealthy Ken Sargent. Ken's mother threatens to have the marriage annulled. Ken loses his position with his father but secures a better one. The young couple take a small apartment and are ideally happy. Then, one night, Lily Lou awakens to hear Ken sobbing. Next day, Lily Lou meets Peggy Sage, an old friend of Ken's and is stunned to learn from her that Ken lost his job. Later, she is relieved when Ken explained he did not take her into his confidence because he wanted her to be proud of him. After Ken leaves the next morning, a knock comes to the door. It is Ken's father. He asks Lily Lou to give up Ken and informs her their marriage was annulled. He gives her $500 and Lily Lou goes to New York. Her money soon begins to run low. She gets a position playing the piano for a dancing teacher. Her search for the vocal teacher she wanted fails. News from home reveals the news of Ken's engagement to Peggy. Becoming ill while at work, Lily Lou goes out on the fire escape for some fresh air. She faints. Dwight Gwin, dancing teacher, calls a doctor.

Now Go On

ALL IN A DAY — By MARK HELLINGER

PERSONALLY, I like the story about the little chap who, some years back, was escorting the tall, rangy gal home from a small town dance. I guess I might as well tell it to you, but I'd like to ask you one favor. Even if you have heard it before, please don't stop me.

Where was I? Oh, yes. This undersized gentleman had developed quite a yen for the big lady as they whirled about to the wheezy music of the sickly orchestra. The other boys and gals laughed at the picture these two created, but it made no difference to the runt. She was fully two heads taller than he, but since when did that stifle love? Gus loved Minnie—and that's all there was to it.

When it came time to go home, Gus took Minnie's arm and they began to walk. Down the country road they strolled as Gus tried to look up into Minnie's hazel eyes. He talked of love, and he sighed. Then he varied the program. He sighed and he talked of love.

Suddenly, just to make the story a little more traveling salesmanish, it began to rain. The stubby little gentleman placed a protecting arm around the lady's waist and suggested that they step into a deserted, old blacksmith shop, until the storm subsided. Minnie agreed it would be the best thing to do.

Well, my friends, that strange couple groped around in the dark and they couldn't find a thing to sit on. There was an old anvil there but it wasn't big enough for two to sit on. And because it was dusty and dirty, Minnie wouldn't sit down anyway.

As they stood there, Gus pounced upon the idea that a little necking now and then is relished by the best of men. He longed to give Minnie a vigorous hug and a smacker or two. But, by golly, she was so tall and he so small that she would have to pick him up in order for him to get the kiss he wanted.

He thought of the anvil, and the thought was an inspiration. He climbed up and—as luck would have it—the anvil was just the right height. Standing there, he was finally able to put his arms around the lady of his choice and whisper sweet nothings in her ears. Oh, yes—our friend, Gus, was just an old ear-whisperer.

They necked and slobbered quite a spell, as we country folks always say, and then it stopped raining. Awkward as it was for him to be standing on an anvil, Gus was all for staying. But Minnie brought the romance to a close with a very simple refusal.

"No," she said. "It's time to go."

So out they went, and down the dark road once again. After a mile or so, Gus expressed an emotion.

"Minnie," he said, "you sure are a wonderful gal. I'd like to have another hug, and a kiss or two."

But Minnie evidently wasn't feeling in the mood. That's always most annoying and I even hate to write it. But, after all, we columnists must write the truth.

"Please, Minnie," pleaded Gus. "Your kisses mean so much to me."

Again the young lady replied in the negative. Gus began to get a trifle angry. They walked two more miles in absolute silence—and Gus suddenly made one more plea.

But to no avail. It was obvious that Minnie was through necking for that particular night. Gus stopped abruptly.

"Do you really mean" he asked, "that I'm not going to have another hug and kiss tonight?"

"Not even one little hug?" he snapped.

He was very angry now. Minnie was interested, even though she was a trifle frightened. She'd been around a bit—and she didn't want Gus to become reckless.

The little man spoke with deep emotion.

"Well," he cried, "if that's how you feel . . . (Blam!) . . . I ain't going to carry this danged anvil any further!"

"DEAR MARK:" writes George McKay. "Will you kindly decide a very important question for me? It means the happiness of two real people. The argument started over in Sheepshead Bay with the party of the second part, and we haven't been the same ever since. Please help me.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS Junior Komic Club

After singing the Star Spangled Banner and repeating the Junior Komic Club pledge the members of the Grand Chapter, Greensburg, Saturday elected Horace Waters as Grand Jester to preside at the next four meetings. Along with Horace, the members also elected Betty Brown, Dorothy Harris, Vivian Peters, Thelma Wise, Fred Wise, Harry Schendowich, Paul Potest and Ralph Fallecker to the office of board of governors. After the election the entire club sang America and several other old-time songs and then enjoyed the regular program.

AMBRIDGE CHAPTER

At the Prince Chapter, Ambridge, the meeting was turned over to Myrne Heberling, acting mistress of ceremonies. Jimmy Brown sang for the first number, "River Stay Away from My Door." This was followed by a tap dance by Marie Simon. Miss Simon also sang "He's So Unusual." Peggy Estep sang "Somebody Stole My Gal," and Winifred Barclay sang "Sing You Sinners."

At the Cameraphone Chapter in East Liberty, the members were entertained by the Cameraphone Chapter Orchestra and Little Bear and Big Eagle, two Indian chiefs, who sang old-time songs and put on a real old-fashioned Indian war dance for the youngsters, after which they told the members stories about the early days of the Indians in the West. Birthday cakes were also distributed to the youngsters who had birthdays last week.

All of the youngsters are delighted with the way "Uncle Bob" reads the daily Sun-Telegraph comics to his little niece, "Betty," every Tuesday and Thursday at 6 o'clock, over radio station WCAE, and on Sunday, when he reads the big comic section of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph at 12:30 noon, over the same station—WCAE. Be sure to listen to them tomorrow night at 6 o'clock, and have your comic section all ready and open.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, together with the name of your mother and father, the day of your birth, and the school you attend, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed you; or, go to your nearest Warner Theater Saturday morning and you will receive your membership card and button at once.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Rowland (Wilkinsburg): Sherwood Landis.

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

LISTEN PROFESSOR, IN A WAY IT'S NONE OF MY BUSINESS BUT...WELL THIS IDEA OF TAKING MISS LA PALOMA TO LUNCH EVERY DAY IS...WELL, YOU KNOW... MIGHT MAKE PEOPLE TALK.
TALK ABOUT WHAT? I DON'T UNDERSTAND! MISS LA PALOMA COMES FROM A VERY ARISTOCRATIC FAMILY!

LISTEN, PEOPLE WILL TALK YOU KNOW, AND...
HER FATHER WAS A GENERAL. WHO WOULD DARE TO SAY ANYTHING ABOUT A LITTLE GIRL WHOSE ONLY FAULT IS THAT, AS IN THIS SITUATION, SHE IS SO OFTEN MISUNDERSTOOD?

ANYHOW LIKE I SAY PEOPLE WILL TALK, ESPECIALLY THE MEN IN THE FACTORY.
MY GOOD FELLOW, TALK ABOUT WHAT? ARE YOU TRYING TO CONVINCE ME IT'S WRONG TO HAVE FRIENDS...THAT IT'S A CRIME IF ONE DOESN'T EAT LUNCH ALONE? WHY, HOW ABSURD.

LISTEN I ADMIT EVERYTHING YOU SAY SOUNDS REASONABLE, BUT WHAT WOULD YOUR WIFE SAY IF...?
MRS. DIOGENES WILL UNDERSTAND. SHE KNOWS THAT A MAN OF MY TYPE, A THINKER, CRAVES SYMPATHY, ESPECIALLY FROM YOUNG FOLKS LIKE LAR - MISS LA PALOMA, WHO IS SO INTENSELY INTERESTED IN THE WORTH-WHILE THINGS... CHEMISTRY, SCIENCE, AND SO FORTH.

A Commendable Move

The Allegheny County Emergency Association Deserves Credit for Adopting the Harris Plan.

The Allegheny County Emergency Association is entitled to commendation for adopting the Harris Plan for the relief of the unemployed, and it could not, of course, have chosen a more capable man to put the plan into effect than its sponsor, Senator Frank J. Harris.

Senator Harris proposes that the well-to-do people of Allegheny County shall pledge themselves to take care of at least one destitute family each until June. There are 24,000 families requiring help to keep them from starvation and it is estimated that $100 each, or at the rate of about $33 a month, will tide them over. In June, there is reason to believe, conditions will improve and many will be able to take care of themselves.

The Welfare Fund and Emergency Association say, however, that they are being called upon to expend $1,000,000 a month for inescapable relief purposes, and that the demands are increasing. The association wants to be in a position to meet these needs for an entire year, if necessary, and accordingly proposes that $15,000,000 shall be raised for relief in addition to the money to be collected through the Harris Plan. It proposes that $5,000,000 shall be collected through a city bond issue and $10,000,000 through a county bond issue.

The proposed bond issues should be avoided unless no other way is open to keep people from starving. The additional taxes which they will necessitate unquestionably will prove so burdensome to small property owners that many will be unable to retain their homes but will have to let them be seized and sold for non-payment of taxes.

If, however, the bonds must be issued, the money thus raised should not be directly disbursed as alms or a dole but should be expended as wages for work on public improvements.

Let the people who are taxed have something in return for their money. Fifteen million dollars worth of labor would help to make Pittsburgh one of the most beautiful and attractive cities in the world.

Let the downtown subway be built. Let the Town Hall be built. Let the ugly and untidy waterfront be beautified. Let narrow streets be widened, and bring the Planning Commission's vision to reality! Let the river-rail terminal be constructed. There is no end of useful work to be done, and in doing it the city can furnish employment to many thousands of men and create a market for the materials needed.

Take Your Choice

Voters Who Appreciate Their Civic Duty Will Study the Large Field of Primary Candidates.

The last day for filing nominating petitions for the primary election of April 26 has passed, and the voters of Pennsylvania now have an opportunity to study the large field of candidates.

Thousands of aspirants for public office have thrown their hats into the ring. The people are to nominate their party's choice for United States Senator, State Treasurer, Auditor General, one judge of the Supreme Court, three judges of the Superior Court, delegates to the national conventions, Congressmen, members of the Legislature and other offices.

Many of the voters, it is to be feared, will let political bosses tell them for whom to vote and will enter the polling places on election day neither interested in nor informed concerning the other candidates whose names appear on the ballot.

Voters who take their civic responsibilities more seriously will try to learn something about the qualifications of all the candidates, and will vote intelligently according to their own best judgment, not blindly at the dictation of a boss.

Independent voters have shown an impressive increase in Allegheny County during the past year, and sagacious candidates who desire their support would do well to face the issues frankly and tell plainly where they stand. Candidates who pussyfoot or straddle are liable to be left in the lurch.

It is particularly desirable that candidates for the Legislature should let the voters know their attitude concerning the Blue Law and the protection of the public from greedy public utilities.

The Veterans' Hospital

It Is to Be Hoped Patients Will Not Have to Be Sent Far From Home Hereafter.

The letting of a contract yesterday for an addition to the Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall will go a long way, it is hoped, towards correcting a situation that has caused complaint.

The two veterans' hospitals in Pennsylvania—the one at Aspinwall and the one at Coatesville—have not been large enough to accommodate all the sick and disabled ex-service men who required treatment. The result was that some had to be sent to hospitals in other states, which made it difficult for their families to visit them.

Certain Pittsburgh physicians advocate placing disabled veterans in general hospitals instead of providing additional government hospitals for their treatment. There may be differences of opinion on this point, but there can be no disagreement with the contention that the veterans should be cared for at places not far from their own homes.

Protect Coasters

The Police Should Designate Certain Streets for the Dangerous Sport, and Prohibit It Elsewhere.

The first snowfall of the winter suitable for coasting has resulted in the death of several sled riders and in injuries to many others.

The police met the situation some years ago by designating for coasting at specified hours certain little used streets in residential neighborhoods in all parts of the city. Coasting was prohibited elsewhere.

The plan should be put into effect again, that further fatalities may be avoided.

Use the Plank, Sam!

(Copyright, 1932.)

A selected manufacturers' sales tax of 2 per cent to yield an estimated $600,000,000 annual revenue is under consideration by a sub-committee of the House Ways and Means Committee.

It is a feasible, practical plan. The sales tax is a success wherever it has been applied because it IS an equitable revenue-raiser, and is the LEAST PAINFUL of all forms of taxation.

Under the intelligent leadership of Speaker Garner, the House budget-balancers have tackled a thankless task in a commendable manner. For guidance they can turn to Canada, where a selected sales tax has been an indispensable part of the tax system for years.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Love-Panic

Yesterday I thought that I
For love of you should surely die!
Yesterday I sighed If He
Only would but GLANCE at me!

Now at last, you've turned my way—
Now you love me—so you say!
That is men—and that is Fate—
Always twenty minutes late!

* * *

The above lines have already appeared in this column; but Oscar Wilde said the same thing much more effectively, when he wrote "And each man kills the thing he loves!"

There always comes a time in the average love-affair when a man gets heart-failure and rocks the boat of romance, by trying to leap out of it in mid-stream. That's the LOVE-PANIC!

* * *

A man seems to have a perfect genius for smashing a love-affair to bits—and then coming back and trying to pick up the pieces. A positive obsession for rubbing all the glamour off love and then trying to wish it on again.

* * *

He will pursue a woman ardently and determinedly, as long as he thinks she's not serious. But the moment she turns around and waits for him to catch up, he becomes panic-stricken and tries to escape.

* * *

It takes a man about six minutes to fall in love; but it takes him six months to discover it—and ADMIT it. Then he rushes back to tell the girl the glad, sweet news! He loves her—and nothing else matters! It's all settled except picking out the wedding ring.

It does not matter that she may have worn out the hall rugs, running to the door looking for a letter. Or that she may have gotten an earache, listening for the telephone. It does not matter that the rose and gold may have gradually faded out of her rainbow dream, and the halo fallen off his image.

* * *

It does not matter that she may have lain awake nights wondering whether she preferred veronal or cyanide, and how she would look in a shroud. It does not matter that her love may have "gone dead." Or that she may have forgotten him in a week—and found somebody else!

* * *

He had fought the good fight—and lost! He has counted the leaves on the daisy and it has come out "I love her!" Oh, you lucky little woman!

* * *

Just why is a man's love supposed to be a delicate orchid, which must be carefully nursed and cultivated; while a woman's love is supposed to be an immortelle, which nothing can kill?

* * *

Yet, nine husbands out of ten could (if they dared) tell you that, at some time or other, they were seized with the love-panic—and nearly lost "the Only Girl in the World." And nine wives out of ten might tell you—but that's something wives don't tell!

* * *

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 9.—Nudity becomes a boon to certain photographers wrestling with depression woes. Such photography once had barn loft secrecy. Today one agency alone has more than 500 names boldly registered. The idea becomes a "meal ticket" for many once spurning this sort of posing.

In the Comstockian era girls were paid from $25 to $50 to visit studios and disrobe for photographs. The prints are made up and shipped in lots of five and ten thousand to South American countries. Blondes a la natural sell like hot cakes in Cuba.

Sometimes different heads are placed on bodies and are labeled with grandiloquent names such as Carlotta Vere de Vere. Another tremendous market is developed among so-called Art Magazines. Under this masquerade they are hawked as pornographic exhibits along Fourteenth street and between acts at rowdy shows.

On Broadway, after dark, they are sold furtively in the manner of the naughty French post cards in Paris. Now and then the likenesses of professional posers are displayed in those pert shops, niched in the clumsy cubistry of Broadway, to make passers-by "lingerie conscious."

There are girls, too, who buy their own pictures. This saves them disrobing for certain theatrical producers, who specialize in what is known in the trade as "flesh shows." Midtown has four continuous burlesque shows presenting "strip acts."

Another minor source of revenue for the Godiva specialists are light ladies, who have themselves photographed for the "sucker trade." Such pastels are conspicuously distributed about apartments and after a few drinks are sold for high prices.

A number of flappers and thrill seeking debutantes have posed merely for "the fun of the thing." They buy the plates, but in one or two instances, originals got out of hand and showed up in underwear ads. Before all those people!

Skipping from the ribald to the serious in art, Tony Balcom has originated a new note in artistry, that might be called The Tin Can School. One of the finest collections of George Washington relics in America is owned by Messmore Kendall, proprietor of the Capitol Theater. Among other personal belongings of the first President in the collection, are his shaving outfit, a half dozen locks of hair at various ages, compass, saddle kit and the like. There are also original door knobs from the Mt. Vernon home and a pair of frayed slippers belonging to Martha Washington. Mr. Kendall also owns the enormous library of theatrical books of the Houdini collection.

Many friends have a zeal for collecting. Irvin Cobb goes in for Indian regalia, Ray Long for Zorn etchings, Gabriel Hess for ship models, Homer Croy, epitaphs, George Young, stamps, John Golden, theater programs, William Gaxton, walking sticks. And so on. My own knack for collecting has developed an unconscious flair for defaulting foreign bonds, of which I have a complete set, including the Peruvian. There's a country—Peru! But why the r?

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

The first part of the story I take direct from the news. It's about a Bank. This Bank borrowed a little cash—just four or five millions—from the newly created, two-billion "Reconstruction Fund." Within a few days it returned the loan, saying that "the emergency for which the money was borrowed did not arise."

Isn't that a lovely, cheer-up story . . . all full of Honesty and Co-Operation n' Dawning Prosperity? It certainly is.

And doesn't it make you chuck full of confidence in this glorious plan for financing fretty financiers? It certainly does. That's why it was written.

But, when "you come right down to brass tacks, isn't there a slight vagueness about that story? For instance, just what was the name of this bank which so casually borrowed and so generously (and surprisingly) returned that large, fat gob of taxpayers' money?

Well, as a matter of fact, the news item didn't give the name. You see, that's one of the nice things about the Reconstruction Fund. IT ISN'T GOING TO MENTION THE NAMES OF ANY BORROWING BANKS. That's one of the express provisions in the bill. They fixed that part up right at the start. Had to. The bankers flatly said that they simply wouldn't consent to be relieved or reconstructed at all, unless they did.

Just think what agonies of embarrassment a Bank would endure if it had to stand right up in front of everybody and ask for a loan and explain what it wanted it for and when (if ever) it intended to return it? Have a heart! Be humane! How could any self-respecting Bank hold up its head again in any community if it had to go through an ordeal like that? It just couldn't. There are limits to what any proud spirit can stand.

So nobody's going to humiliate Banks. And if you have a spark of good breeding in you, you'll shut up right now and not ask any more embarrassing questions.

That's the first part of the story. Here's the next. But this part isn't news. Even the smallest paper in America wouldn't give it a front page spread. It's too unimportant.

Of course, the Wilsons, themselves, don't think it is unimportant. But, naturally, their view is a little distorted. For the Wilsons are starving. They have in the house, at the moment of writing, exactly $1.35, one-third of a sack of flour, a doubtful can of corned beef, a bottle of vanilla, half a cabbage, a few moldy wafers. They have not had butter or milk for a week, nor meat for three weeks. You can figure out for yourself just how long Ma and Pa Wilson, old Aunt Emmy, 16-year-old Agnes and the Little Shaver can hold out on that.

Needless to say, both Pa and Ma Wilson have looked for work. But why go into that? They have also made timid inquiries of the Community Chest. But the Community Chest can do nothing for them since they own an equity in the rickety, five-room cottage in which they live. And, since the Wilsons aren't "suffering from disaster," the Red Cross can't help them either.

Of course, if they'd go out and stand in the bread lines, something might be done for them. But there's the rub. The Wilsons aren't reasonable people. They insist on being proud about standing in bread lines. They point out that they have always been decent, hard working people and that they could never hold up their heads again if they had to come out and ask for charity.

"If there was only some sort of an emergency fund I could borrow from privately," says Pa Wilson, in that hollow, hopeless voice he has acquired lately—"some place where they'd lend a fellow a few dollars on his record. I'm sure I could pay it back. We Wilsons always pay our debts. But when it comes to asking for charity—No, I guess we'd rather starve than that."

So the Wilsons are starving. Quietly, stubbornly starving. Yes, I know it's silly. But what can you do with people like that—people who insist on their right to be proud in the face of starvation?

Now—if it was a Bank, you might understand feelings like that. But Banks are different. Look how important Banks are. Banks simply MUSTN'T be humiliated.

Isn't It So?

He who chases two hares catches neither.

Losses to which we are accustomed, affects us less.

A girl of sweet 16 never wishes that she had been born a man—but wait until she reaches the age of 36.

The Battle for Jobs

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

THE recent nation-wide improvement in sentiment gives new vitality to the proposed war against business depression and unemployment in the United States. At length deflationists among bankers and government officials have been converted to the viewpoint of scientific economists, who have long been urging restorative, counter deflationary measures.

The next move in the reconstruction plan, to complete the economic circle, would be to assure the effective use of the new credit opportunities by creating jobs for the 8,000,000 jobless Americans now trudging the streets without hope.

A PROSPERITY loan of $5,000,000,000, to which the attention of Congress is again directed beginning Wednesday, March 9, in hearings before the Senate subcommittee of the Committee on Education and Labor on the La Follette bill (S. 2419) to accelerate public works, would link counter deflation with the human objective of alleviating the plight of the unemployed.

When the idle have been returned to payrolls, production will no longer greatly outstrip consumption.

As soon as purchasing power is released to unemployed family heads, they will again BUY FREELY WITHOUT PUBLIC EXHORTATION OR BALLYHOO.

The public works plan for re-employment of labor and social reconstruction would put the law of supply and demand on the side of business recovery.

THE Hearst newspapers suggest that Congress meet the objections raised and squeeze all the advantages out of the idea while making safeguards against any conceivable objections.

The first objection raised is that the plans are not ready for the immediate spending of $5,000,000,000 on desirable public works. As for this, let Congress authorize a $5,000,000,000 loan, but restrict the actual spending and flotation of bonds to a billion dollars a year. It would be perfectly feasible to spend at least a billion wisely by March, 1933, and another billion by March, 1934.

The second alleged objection is that the intemperate offering of $5,000,000,000 of bonds in the present nervous investment market would retard economic recovery by hurting the bond market and depreciating the present holdings of financial institutions. By limiting the sale of bonds for such purpose to one billion dollars a year, Congress would clear the air, relieve present fears, and heighten the recovery in bond prices already under way.

The third objection has been that, though the public works stimulus would be unquestionably desirable now while business is at low ebb, it might, if too long continued, make for a dangerous inflation later on. This hazard could be avoided by definite order by Congress to cease the emergency program as soon as practicable AFTER BUSINESS RETURNS TO NORMAL.

IN their joint statement advocating the prosperity loan, which was published on January 10, 46 eminent economists, aware of this practical problem, said: "OF COURSE, SHOULD CONDITIONS IMPROVE, THE PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM WOULD BE TAPERED OFF AND GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES RAPIDLY CURTAILED."

Likewise, Section 15 of the La Follette bill meets this crucial point by providing that "appropriations authorized by Section 7 shall remain available until expended or until the index of industrial production, as now computed, of the Federal Reserve Board reaches index numbered 100." (In this index, 100 is equal to the 1923-1925 average of industrial production. In 1929, the index rose as high as 126.)

Under the revised prosperity loan plan, business would be assured not merely of one shot of stimulus, but of a series of injections of inspiriting purchasing power over a period of five years, if necessary.

CONGRESS should delay no longer in applying this sound economic relief to those most in need, namely, the great multitudes without jobs through no fault of their own.

To tarry longer, after having appropriated vast sums for financing financiers, would be to convict Congress of INDIFFERENCE TO HUMAN NEED, after it has already rendered GENEROUS ASSISTANCE TO NEEDY CORPORATIONS.

The hungry, the ill-clad and those devoid of hope cannot afford to wait. They demand JOBS, NOT HANDOUTS.

Delay is ruinous because HUMAN LABOR IS PERISHABLE.

How can any Representative or Senator go before the American people next fall without having voted decisively for this relief measure, which has been so thoroughly underwritten by competent economic authorities?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

They are glad to see the little folk and want to play with them and make them happy, so it makes it difficult for Dad to administer a whipping.

It should be a happy occasion when father comes home—he does not want the children to dread to see him.

Many disturbances in homes are caused by tired, worried husbands returning to homes in which a mother is scolding and youngster are crying.

A man has a right to comparative rest and a congenial condition all around when he reaches the spot where he is at home.

To come home in the midst of a disturbance with his frayed nerves and those he encounters, means a general rumpus and may cause him to say and do things that all will regret afterward.
